Rescue rewards

'The award is a way to formally recognize the heroic efforts emergency medical service professionals put forth...'

Antioch Rescue Squad and Antioch Fire Department First Fire Protection District have received the fifth annual Scene Call of the Year Award from Flight for Life—Northern Illinois for their rescue on Thursday, July 9, at Sand Bar Boat and Motor Repair.

The award was presented Wednesday, March 31, at an annual Emergency Services Conference at College of Lake County in Grayslake.

"This is the first for us from Flight for Life," said Antioch Rescue Squad Chief Wayne Sobczak. "The receipt of that award is a reflection on our entire squad."

It is not the first time the squad has earned public recognition for their services and role in the community. It is merely the most recent.

On July 9, at Lake Marie, Mark Bobowski, 34, of Des Plaines, dove from a pier into a foot of water to wash off sand from a volleyball game. He struck his head on the bottom of the lake and fractured the fifth cervical vertebra of his neck.

The 911 call was for help for a man in the water. The Antioch Fire Department First Fire Protection District, the Antioch Rescue Squad, and the Water Rescue Team were dispatched to the scene.

"His friends did the first step in saving his life," Sobczak said. "They got him out on a board."

His friends used a pier plank as a backboard to immobilize Bobowski and kept him in the water. They held his head in their hands so it would not move. "They were holding traction and they had him on the board," said Sobczak.

"Our decision to get a flight is usually within a few minutes of arrival," Sobczak said. "That was true in this case."

Deputy Fire Chief Leonard

Sakalowski immediately went to secure an area for the helicopter to use when it arrived. The rescue squad attended to Bobowski.

The Antioch Fire Department First Fire Protection District has the responsibility to find and secure an area for the helicopter to use for landing.

"They protect the area from the public," said Sobczak. "Their assistance is always welcomed."

Fire fighters are able to coordinate the landing with Flight for Life, identify possible hazards, and tell pilots about landing conditions. At night, the fire department uses special lights to illuminate the landing area.

Antioch paramedic David Douglas was in charge of the rescue scene that evening. "He's mature when it comes to paramedical treatment and training," said Sobczak.

"This was a case where everything fell into place," stated Douglas. "I critique every call I go on as a way to improve. This was one where we couldn't have done it any better."

Also attending at the scene was squad member Rob Briggs. Both Briggs and Douglas are volunteers.

Bobowski is now a quadriplegic in physical therapy. He is regaining

The Tuesday, April 13 Consolidated Election will bring a number of races and candidates before the voter. The elections involve village government offices, library, school, and park districts, and referendums.

This is the first election in which voters choose village, park, library, and school board candidates at one time. The intent was to consolidate elections to save taxpayer money.

In addition, election officials hope that more people will turn out for the election.

There are seven issues for voters in Antioch area elections.

The Village of Antioch will select three village trustees. Running for the offices are Barbara Porch, Wayne L. Foresta, and Larry Hanson.

There are four trustees running for the Antioch Public Library District board. They are Michael J. Mortensen, Mary Kay McNeill, Betsy Houghton, and Lori Bruce.

There are also four candidates for three positions on the board of the Antioch Community School District 34. They are Steven M. Turner, Kathryn Oddsen Wilson, Vickie Axton, and Dennis C. Cozzi.

There are also four candidates for three positions on the board of Emmons School District 33. They include Barbara Comstock, Bruce J. Dille, Job West, and Dolores Schmelzer.

There is one candidate for three positions on the board of Grass Lake School District 36, with the candidate being Fran Adelizzi.

There are three candidates for three positions on the board of the Antioch Community High School District 117. They are Edward Koziorowski, Sandy Jacobs, and Kathy Werchek.

Antioch Community School District 34 has placed on the ballot a referendum question. The text states: "Shall the Board of Education of Antioch Community Consolidated School District No. 34, Lake County, Illinois, build and equip a new school building, build and equip an addition to and alter, repair and improve the Antioch Upper Grade School Building, and issue bonds of said School District to the amount of $11,850,000."

PRECINCT 150 VOTER CHANGE

Voting for precinct 150 was previously done at Good Shepherd Lutheran Church. It will now be done at Antioch Golf Club, 40150 North Route 59, in Antioch.

ACHSEA in need of blood

Blood is needed, and the opportunity to donate is at hand.

The Antioch Community High School Education Association will hold its annual blood drive next Thursday, April 15 in the south gymnasium from 7:45 a.m. to 3:15 p.m.

"People can walk in," said Loreen Dresser. "We're looking for a successful blood drive. In the past we've had right around 200 people come through."

She is the organizer of the annual blood drive along with teacher Jeff Moxley.

"We'd like to see about 190 to 200 donors come through, and we'd like to collect around 175 pints of blood," she said.

Dresser said that blood supplies are desperately needed and she urges eligible people to donate.

The PM&L Production is presented the weekend dates of April 9, 10, 16, 17, 23, and 24 at 8 p.m., and of April 11, 18, and 25 at 2:30 p.m. Tickets are $10 for adults and $8 for students and senior citizens.

PM&L is at 877 Main Street in downtown Antioch, just south of Orchard Street.

LOCAL DIGEST

Subdivisions underway

It is somewhat easy to feel that there is little residential housing construction going on in the village because it is confined to areas that are not yet heavily traveled. People are aware of the construction on Tiffany Road. However, a trip on Depot Street is a real eye-opener. Both on the north and south side of the street there are housing subdivisions underway. Also, during these past two weeks, Ryland built two new model homes across the street from the Antioch Veterans of Foreign Wars Hall at 75 North Avenue. It is a new subdivision area connected to the one on Depot Street.

Chamber event praised

The March 27 and 28 Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry was a good people event, and there were two vacation travel winners.

"Overall, the booths enjoyed people stopping by," said President Barbara Porch. "They took time to stop and talk."

This was the first year that exposition attendees could buy something at the show if they liked it. That seemed to go well also, according to Porch.

On Saturday, LuAnn Beemer won the $1,000 travel vacation certificate. On Sunday, Donald Rodgers won it.

use of his arms and hands and improves every day. He walks with braces and crutches. He was able to attend the Wednesday award ceremony at which the Antioch Rescue Squad presented him with an award.

"We were moved by his courage," said Sobczak of the award they gave to Bobowski. "It was an inspiration to us all."

Antioch Fire Chief Dennis Volling told the Chicago Tribune, "We know that with an injury like his that the outcome is not often good. Yet, we're able to see the progress Mark has made and his positive attitude and it makes us feel that what we do is really worthwhile and that it helps to make a difference."

Flight for Life makes a difference for emergency health care in the Antioch area, according to Sobczak. "They are a valuable asset to our end of the business when they are needed," he said.

"We started (using Flight for Life) the first year they had a helicopter available to them." That was in the mid-1980s.

Flight for Life is important to emergency rescues in Antioch because of the area's distance from a hospital. The result is that there is frequent involvement of helicopters in Antioch rescues.

"These are emergencies, not transport," said Sobczak. In non-emergency cases, people are driven quickly to medical centers by the rescue squad.

In 1998, Flight for Life was called to the scene of an Antioch rescue twelve times. On two occasions, both of the Flight for Life Helicopters were used. What made this award-winning call special was the teamwork among the victim's friends, the Antioch Fire Department First Fire Protection District, and the Antioch Rescue Squad. It was this teamwork that helped to minimize the impact of the victim's injury on the rest of his life.

Flight for Life used three criteria to evaluate rescue work considered for their award. Rescues must have involved complex planning and accident scene management. Another factor is how the helicopter was used as part of the call. The third factor is that the rescue involve skills that go beyond the "call of duty" to treat the patient.

As Flight for Life stated: "The award is a way to formally recognize the heroic efforts emergency medical service professionals put forth in providing high quality care to patients in communities throughout Flight for Life—Northern Illinois service region."

Parade, hunt help build tradition

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

The first of the year's memory-building traditions unfolded in downtown Antioch last Saturday, and the effect on children and parents seemed to be magical.

The children will remember Antioch for the rest of their lives.

The Village of Antioch and the Park and Recreation Department presented an Easter Parade and Eggcellent Egg Hunt Saturday, April 3 from 10:30 to 11:30 a.m.

For children, it was all true: there is a bunny who gives away candy.

For some moms it was a chance to break out the pink fuzzy ears.

For Claude LeMere, Director of Community Development, it was also a chance to break out the pink fuzzy ears.

"I liked the Pig," said Erick Camper, 3, of Antioch. He was referring to Mr. Pig, representing Piggly Wiggly supermarket, who marched in the downtown parade.

Erick Camper also liked the hunt at Williams Park. "I got eggs," he said. Each egg was filled with candy and he had collected ten of them in his first-ever egg hunt, according to mother Michelle Camper.

"I was afraid he wasn't going to like it, but he loved it," said Michelle Camper. "It's fun to see all the different floats."

Amanda Charles, 2, of Antioch, was present with her father, Bill Charles. "She was in the egg hunt this year," he said. "She loved it. She had lots of fun; we took lots of pictures."

Amanda Charles found candy and an Easter Bunny Ring in one of her plastic eggs.

The Easter Parade started Antioch's morning adventure. This year's parade was a noisy, colorful event with more than two dozen marching units. The traditional blast of police and fire sirens announced the arrival of an old fire engine driven by Fire Chief Dennis Volling with village trustees packed on back.

The parade included pageant queens from Antioch, Lindenhurst, Lake Villa and Grayslake, as well as the Northern Illinois Youth Scholarship and America's Beautiful Miss pageants.

Girl Scout, Brownie, and Daisy Troop members marched and wished all a happy Easter.

The Antioch Republican Club had a contingent. Several men carried a banner: "I'm proud to be a Local 150 Operating Engineer."

One unit of the parade included a group passing out information about the Antioch Community School District 34 school bond referendum. They preceded a traditional yellow school bus that looked as if it had been washed twice, waxed thrice, and dusted-off as it drove in the parade. It was as clean as a brand new primary school building.

PM&L Theater contributed an Elizabethan marching crew. Dressed in costume for "Much Ado about Nothing," the actors passed out handbills for their production, opening tonight, Friday, April 9 at 8 p.m. at their theater at Orchard and Main streets.

At the end of the parade, as the Easter Bunny in a Country Pontiac and Buick dealership vehicle passed, many children and parents stepped from the sidewalk to follow toward Williams Park.

A few hundred children swarmed across the green outfield lawn of the Little League Field at Williams Park. The field was filled with eggs, candies, prizes, and a few certificates for large baskets of other treats.

"We want to thank Lakeland Newspapers for the 80 pounds of jelly beans which are put inside the plastic eggs," Shineflug said.

Camp gives 'new hope' disabled children

Antioch Jaycees are seeking contributions for their sponsorship of children to Camp New Hope. The camp is a full week experience for physically and mentally handicapped children. It teaches independence and sportsmanship. This will be the fifth year the Jaycees do this. In the past, Jaycees have sent 3 or 4 campers. Donations of $25, $50, $100 can be made, although any amount is welcome. In addition, Jaycees would like to receive raffle items as well as gift certificates they can use for fund raisers for this effort. Send it all to Antioch Jaycees, P. O. Box 254, Antioch, 60002.

Warrant

Antioch Police Officers stopped Raymond R. Gittings, 28, of Salem, Wis., on Thursday, April 1 at 11:44 a.m. in the 700 block of Main Street in a copper 1983 Datsun 280Z. He was arrested on a Lake County Sheriff's Office warrant. Gittings said that he believed the situation is based on a case of mistaken identity. Gittings was released on bond pending a court date of Thursday, April 15 at 9 a.m. in Waukegan.

Consumption, possession

Antioch Police Officers stopped Donald E. Gordon, 19, of Racine, Wis., on Saturday, April 3 at 1:06 a.m. at Route 83 and Windsor Terrace. He was walking on Windsor Terrace. He was charged with consuming alcohol as a minor and possession of cannabis. He accepted the offer of a Breathalyzer test (0.16). Gordon was released on bond pending a court date of Wednesday, April 28 at 9 a.m. in Grayslake.

LAKE VILLA

Possession of cannabis

Four youth were arrested on cannabis charges after police stopped the car they were driving on Cedar Lake Road.

On March 31 at 6:27 p.m., a Lake Villa Police officer observed a black Ford Taurus heading east-bound on Route 132 at Offield occupied by six subjects. While following the Taurus, the officer observed it turn onto Cedar Lake Road and then into a driveway at a residence. Noone appeared home at the residence.

The officer pulled into the driveway with his overhead lights on. The driver was so intent on looking at the police officer that he backed into the basketball hoop support, causing minimal damage.

The driver, who was age 17, appeared nervous for no apparent reason. He produced a drivers license and insurance card, both of which were current and valid.

Scattered throughout the cars were packs of cigarettes and only one of the occupants in the car was 18. The other were between the ages of 14-17.

When the officer asked the youth if they had any contraband in the car, they said no. After searching the car, police found two bags of cannabis under the drivers seat, one silver metal "one hitter" pot pipe, 1 ceramic pot pipe and a 35 millimeter film container with cannabis in it.

The driver of Ingleside was charged with possession of cannabis, along with two of the passengers in the car, ages 15 and 16. A 14-year-old was charged with possession of drug paraphernalia. They were released to their parents pending an April 14 court date.

Two other individuals in the car, ages 16 and 18, were not charged.

Illegal consumption of alcohol

Melissa M. Kick, 20, 1132 Olga St., Mundelein was arrested on charges of illegal consumption of alcohol by a minor and improper lane usage.

On April 4 at 2:25 a.m., police responded to Grand Avenue and Waters Edge for a possible DUI that off duty Lindenhurst Police Officer Ralph Goar was following. The car was a black 1994 Ford Mustang with Illinois registration.

After pulling over the car, the officer talked to the driver, Kick, who had a moderate smell of alcohol coming from her. Goar told the Lake Villa officer that he observed Kick bounce off the curb on Grand Avenue just west of Deep Lake Road.

Kick was then arrested and charged with DUI zero tolerance since she was only 20. A test found a blood alcohol level of .13.

Kick posted her drivers license as bond and was released pending a May 12 court date.

Disorderly conduct

Robert F. Quedens, 38, of North Milwaukee Avenue, Lake Villa, was charged with disorderly conduct following an incident on March 31.

At about 2:05 a.m., a squad car was dispatched to a residence on North Milwaukee Avenue following a complaint of a man yelling and banging on the doors. When police arrived at the location, they found Quedens yelling and pounding on doors.

After speaking to the subject, police found out where he lived. He also was extremely intoxicated and indicated he didn't know what he was doing.

He was placed into custody and charged him with disorderly conduct. He was taken to the Lake Villa Police Department, where he was booked and then given a ride home.

A court date has been set for April 14 in Grayslake.

Lake, McHenry voters to cast ballots for FWA board, Tuesday

By SPENCER SCHEIN
Staff Reporter

The Fox Waterway Agency has two election races happening on the April 13 ballot. The board of directors has six seats, three for Lake County and three for McHenry County.

On the Lake County side, Roy V. Gundelach of Ingleside and Michael N. "Mike" Mueller of Antioch are running for one four-year term.

On the McHenry County side, incumbent Directors Stan J. Mill of McHenry and Marshall Lowe of Cary are running against Pam Althoff of McHenry for two three-year seats.

Gundelach is a former board member, 1985 to '93, and was the agency's project coordinator for a year and a half in 1997 and 1998. He was fired by a 4-3 vote of the board.

Gundelach, owner of Custom Canvas, said he wants to get the agency back on track and dredging channels again to benefit the entire waterway community. Dredging a channel without a proper permit is what agency officials said got Gundelach fired.

Mueller said his has been the boater's friend through his memberships with the Coast Guard Auxiliary and US Power Squadron, and the taxpayers friend as a member of the Fox Waterway Agency Advisory Board.

Mueller has been a compliance officer with the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency since 1992, and from 1991 through this past February was chief deputy assessor for the Newport Township Assessor's Office.

Gundelach said he is interested in making the agency's management more professional. He had been a part of the agency since its formation by the State of Illinois, and said he helped build the Fox Lake Community Center.

Mueller said he is skilled and confident in organizing, with an expertise in prioritizing, delegating, and motivating, and is also effective in budgeting and long term planning.

Mueller is an elected Antioch Township Precinct 8 Republican Committeeman, and is a trustee in the Groveland Park subdivision of Antioch Township.

St. Peter's auction includes food, music

The Seventh Annual Auctioneer's Night for St. Peter Catholic Church is Saturday, April 17 starting at 6 p.m. in Father Hanley Hall.

The evening of both silent and live auction action will include an appearance by the Grease Band after the auction.

The evening includes a raffle with a top prize of free tuition next

People with good items for the auction can contact Linda Pedersen, 395-1384, or Wayne Sobczak, 395-1010.

Tickets are available for $10 from a variety of sources. People may buy tickets at the Sense and Sensibility Program after church mass and also both before and after school. Tickets are available in the school office, 900 St. Peter Street, and from Tiffany Real Estate offices, 549 Lake Street.

Tickets may be purchased from steering committee members. They include Orticelli, Sobczak, Linda Pedersen, Julie Konvalinka, and Diane Nelson.

Four Emmons school fifth-graders were named as winners in a DARE essay competition at the school. Two winners were selected from the classrooms of Mrs. Cindy Thielen and Mr. Michael McDonnell. Library education programs popular Antioch Public Library District provides educational programs and modern media access to increasing numbers of patrons.

Library Director Kathyne LaBuda spoke about the use of the library at a meeting of the Antioch Rotary Club, March 25, at noon at Columbia Bay Brewery.

LaBuda said that the library offers training with library tutors for seven women who are presently working on their General Education Degree. It is a process that can take six months, although the library works with their candidate until they pass the exam.

"It is free to the candidate," she said.

Other tutors are working with students who are learning English as a second language.

Last year, there were 670 children who participated in the summer reading program.

mer reading program.

"We do serve over 18,000 people," LaBuda said. Last year, 164,426 people walked through the library doors. "We are a good draw for the community."

The library received over 146,000 reference questions. "We'll find the information to give to you," she said.

Computers are available at the library for all patrons. "We have two adult Pentiums that have access to the Internet," LaBuda said. Other computers are available in the library for use by children and students. "Those are busy all the time."

"Now we're on the web," LaBuda told Rotarians. The library has placed its card catalogue on the Internet. Antioch residents can check the library holdings from their home computer.—by Kenneth Patchen

Five seek GCHS seats

By JOHN KMITTA
Staff Reporter

Grayslake Community High School District 127 school board will have five candidates running for four seats.

Four of the candidates, Timothy Madole, Chris McClain, Gary Martin, and Louise Wickersheim, are incumbents on the board, with Gregory Gorham being the sole newcomer.

Incumbent Russell C. Hager will also be on the April 13 ballot running for his own unexpired term.

Timothy Madole

A resident of Round Lake Beach for the past 16 years, Timothy Madole has served on the District 127 school board for the past six years.

Prior to that he served eight years on the District 46 elementary school board.

Madole is a train conductor who has seen three children go through the district and one is now a teacher in District 46.

He is familiar with the business of the school district and his knowledge from being a former carpenter helps him as the current chair of the buildings and grounds committee.

Madole is in favor of creating safe schools through zero tolerance.

He is also a strong supporter of advances in curriculum.

Other goals Madole listed are fiscal responsibility to taxpayers and better programs to prepare students.

His key for the board is the work on long-range planning to prepare for increased enrollment.

Christopher McClain

A business manager for Motorola, incumbent Christopher McClain has served on the board for four years.

The Grayslake resident also coaches park district basketball and previously coached AYSO soccer.

McClain said in his past term he has provided value during teacher negotiations.

He said a continuing goal is to deal with growth issues with a very minimal tax impact.

The district must chart the course of the growth, McClain said.

With growth comes the continued need to deliver quality education, he said.

Another goal McClain said he has is to increase community awareness of the high school.

McClain said he feels he brings his business experience to the board and along with his experience and financial skills he looks to continue to benefit the district.

Gregory Gorham

The only newcomer of the group, Gregory Gorham is a Grayslake resident who works for the Illinois Department of Transportation.

He worked with Avon youth basketball for 15 years, and with Grayslake traveling baseball, and also serves as a volunteer high school coach.

Gorham is a member of St. Gilbert Church, and has also worked on several political campaigns.

He said there is not one driving reason for his running for the high school board.

Gorham said that if the voters are happy with the way the district is being run, then they should vote for the four incumbents.

He said he is only interested in a quality school district and is not in the election to bad-mouth anyone.

Goals Gorham listed include more community involvement and more intergovernmental communication to handle the overcrowding issues.

He said he will serve as a watchdog and ask why a lot, until he is convinced he has all of the details.

The new drug testing policies for athletes is something Gorham said he would like to look at.

He said that when a program like that is implemented it usually signals that there is a problem.

If elected, he said he would be a quick learner.

Gary Martin

Incumbent high school board member Gary Martin has lived in unincorporated Grayslake all of his life.

He is a carpenter who has served four years on the board and served nine years as vice president of the Highland Lake Homeowners Association.

Martin said he is running for re-election because he truly enjoys working on the board.

So far Martin has had two children graduate from the district and two more to still go through.

"I am looking long term," he said. In addition to being a GCHS graduate himself, Martin said his mother also graduated from GCHS.

He said those life-long ties to the community and the high school give him a knowledge of the school and a long term commitment.

In his past term Martin worked on the last addition, he serves on the discipline committee, and the technology committee.

Growth is the biggest issue facing the school district, Martin said.

"We have no control," he said. He said the high school board needs to work more closely with the villages to get impact fees in line.

Incumbent Louise Wickersheim is also running for re-election to the District 127 high school board, but was unavailable for comment.

Electric Harbor, neighbors discuss issues

Residents open dialogue with marina before summer season

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Neighborhood residents near Electric Harbor Marina Inc. do not want another summer of loud music and inadequate parking encroaching upon their lives.

Neighborhood residents, the owners of Electric Harbor Marina on Petite Lake, and two county board representatives met March 24 to discuss how everyone is going to get along for the next few years.

County Board Member Larry Leafblad (R-Highland Lake) waded into the discussion to learn about the conflicts. As Chairman of the Planning and Zoning Committee, he said he wanted to hear about situations that ordinances under consideration by his committee will affect.

"What we're trying to do is find something palatable," he said. "I'm not here to make any judgments, but to listen."

He heard many complaints from neighborhood residents.

According to residents, Electric Harbor does not own enough property to support its "oversize" pier, operate a cruise boat, rent rooms above the bar, rent pontoon boats and water craft, have party rooms for up to 75 people, play loud rock and roll music outside its building, and park automobiles of customers attracted to the location.

Electric Harbor was not a problem when it was a marina. "It's a problem when he put the bar in," said one resident. "It's not a road designed for a bar. It's a residential street. I don't think anyone can deny that."

"We're not here to destroy Larry (Phillips, owner of Electric Harbor)," said David Hoeh. Neighbors want to work things out, he said. "The bands are a problem. The bands are loud."

"Once the gazebo went up, there was outside drinking," Fred Herdrich said. "Last year was the first year I had to call the police on noise."

"(Electric Harbor has) never been as bad as they were last year," said Larry Fales. It has now reached the point where the neighbors have organized to make sure Electric Harbor operates within the law, according to Fales.

Larry Phillips agreed with some of the complaints lodged against him regarding noise. "Did it get out of control? Yes," he said. "We can control it better."

County Board Member Leafblad discussed the issues confronting the neighborhood in terms of the historic recreation industry of the Chain of Lakes. "I'm not picking on Electric Harbor," he said. "This situation you have is not unique."

Many of the land uses in the lakes region were established when it was a wide-open resort area, according to Leafblad.

"I intend to have a meeting with tavern owners to see what we can do," Leafblad said. "It's not just Larry (Phillips)."

Leafblad said that many of the issues are to be regulated by the special events section of county ordinances which are now being updated. County board committee members are considering a variety of options to manage the neighborhood impacts of taverns.

"We're trying to find something we can all live with," he said. "We're going to try to find a solution and put it into law." If it does not work, they will try again.

County Board Member Judy Martini (R-Antioch) spoke to the neighborhood residents and acknowledged that the issues of Electric Harbor were specifically about the expansion of a non-conforming land use. She noted, however, that many of the same problems need to be addressed in other areas of the county. Other problem uses include haunted houses and car races.

Larry Phillips, owner of Electric Harbor offered to meet with residents to manage the problems that exist. "I'll be happy to sit down with you," he said. "I will meet with you and I have some suggestions."

"It's music to my ears that he will meet with the homeowners," said Martini.

"I have no problem meeting... and putting a limit on what we do this year," Phillips said.

Jeanne Phillips said that they have tried every year to accommodate their neighbor's concerns. "(Larry's) been more conciliatory than everybody here."

There were people present at the meeting who spoke positively of Electric Harbor. One resident noted that the marina was there when she moved into the neighborhood. She said that she did not think people had a problem with the marina operation.

"Obviously, this area is becoming populated. Things are changing," she said.

Sandy Schroeder told the group that she lives a half mile away. "I don't have a problem with Electric Harbor."

Scott Walkington, who lives nearby, also spoke positively of Electric Harbor and its presence in the neighborhood.

Pontiac Sunfire turns up fun-meter with 1999 GT convertible

With one of the youngest buyer bases in the industry, Pontiac Sunfire continues to build on its youth-oriented image with the introduction of the 1999 GT convertible.

Sunfire's GT convertible features the distinctive GT front fascia with round directional signal lenses, GT-specific rear fascia, dual exhaust outlets and decklid spoiler.

The GT convertible comes standard with the 150-horsepower 2.4-liter Twin Cam engine and a four-speed automatic transmission with the Enhanced Traction System. A snappy five-speed manual transmission is available.

Improvements to the Twin Cam engine for 1999 include new fuel injectors, fuel injector rails, exhaust manifold and catalytic converter.

"Without a doubt, the Sunfire GT convertible is the sportiest convertible for the money anywhere," said Sunfire Brand Manager Sam Mancuso. "The young and young-minded continue to discover how much fun it is to drive the very affordable Sunfire."

Sunfire's 1999 model lineup includes the SE Coupe, SE convertible and GT Coupe, each equipped with features and options normally reserved for bigger, more expensive cars. Dual Next Generation air bags, antilock brakes and rear seat HVAC ducts and the PassLock theft-deterrent system are standard on all Sunfire models.

Powertrain selections for the 1999 SE Coupe and SE Sedan include the standard 2.2-liter engine with a five-speed manual transmission. This combination yields an EPA fuel economy rating of 24 city/34 highway. The 115-horsepower 2.2-liter engine is also available with a three-speed automatic or a four-speed automatic transmission.

The 2.4-liter Twin Cam engine with a five-speed manual transmission is the standard powertrain for the 1999 Sunfire GT coupe. This 150-horsepower engine generates 155 lb-ft of torque for great acceleration and freeway merging. This combination is also available on the SE coupe and SE convertible.

The 4T40-E four-speed transmission includes Pontiac's Enhanced Traction System, a form of traction control that promotes traction by reducing engine power when one of the front wheels begins to spin. The standard four-speed au-

2000 Buick LeSabre strives for success

2000 Buick LeSabre Limited

Buick's main challenge in creating an all-new LeSabre sedan for the 2000 model year was simply this: How do you improve on of the most successful automobiles on the market?

LeSabre's status as the best-selling U.S. full-size car for seven straight years was a strong indication it was already providing a successful blend of attributes: roomy comfort, smooth power, quality, safety and security. Basically, customers saw the six-passenger LeSabre as an outstanding value.

So, when it came time for a new model, product planners were determined to keep LeSabre's regular customers happy. At the same time, they wanted to widen its appeal. The result -- the 2000 LeSabre -- has numerous new features designed to strengthen LeSabre's position as a premium sedan for traditional American families.

"However, the main feature of the 2000 LeSabre is not its list of innovations and improvements -- though it's an impressive list -- but the overall package designed to continue the winning formula," said Joseph J. Fitzsimmons Jr., LeSabre brand manager.

"From the exterior styling that is elegant and pleasing -- timeless rather than gimmicky -- to the very popular 3800 Series II V-6 engine and the new stronger body structure, this LeSabre is designed to attract a large number of customers who want an upscale, roomy, comfortable and safe car with classic styling -- and also a great value.

Pointing out the car's excellent reputation, he noted LeSabre has, for 1998, again won the prestigious "Family Car of the Year" award from Family Circle magazine and in recent years has received various quality (J.D. Power), safety (Kiplinger's magazine) and value (IntelliChoice, Strategic Vision, Car Guide, etc.) honors.

"We're proud of all of them, but we're most proud of the one that indicates we are truly meeting our customer's needs -- and that's the best-seller award," Fitzsimmons said.

"We've sold more than one million LeSabres in the last eight years. Over that period, LeSabre has beaten all of our major competitors in retail sales -- including Mercury Grand Marquis, Ford Crown Victoria, Chrysler Concorde, Dodge Intrepid, Toyota Avalon. That's a tremendous record of market success.

LeSabre gives you a feeling of being in control and being secure -- basically it's a car that provides peace of mind."

For the 2000 model year, he said, Buick set out to identify the features it would most like to improve by talking to customers. And then it improved them. As a result, the new model is stronger, quieter and more convenient and secure. It has, among a long list of improvements, side air bags, better ride and handling and more luggage capacity (and, on Limited, a pass-through between the trunk and rear seating for hauling long items). There is more stowage in the passenger compartment, new inset door handles, larger gauges, larger outside rear-view mirrors that are hinged so they will fold if bumped.

From an engineering standpoint, LeSabre's major news is its more substantial body structure, the latest generation of the unusually strong architecture that earlier won praise in Riviera (1995) and Park Avenue (1997).

Fitzsimmons said customer will notice a smoother, quieter ride, a more satisfying sound when the doors close, and overall a more substantial "feel" created by the significant improvements in stiffness: 27 percent more resistance to bending and a 62 percent gain in torsional rigidity.

In addition, LeSabre's safety-cage construction combined with four air bags, balanced chassis design, energy absorbing surfaces and new anti-lock four-wheel disc brakes, with extra capacity for sure stopping, emphasize LeSabre's attention to safety -- a key attribute for LeSabre buyers.

Among other new safety features on LeSabres are high-retention front seats with self-aligning head restraints. These features can enhance the seat system performance in rear impact collisions.

In a rear impact, the new seat system is designed to absorb energy and "pocket" a properly positioned occupant's pelvis and lower back into the seat. The self-aligning head restraint, built into each front seat back, uses the rearward movement of the occupant's upper torso in an accident to rotate the head restraint closer to the occupant's head. This simple mechanical device can reduce head motion in certain rear impacts, and therefore reduce the potential for a "whiplash" injury.

Also, all front safetybelts are now attached directly to the seat structure, and shoulder and lap safety belts are now provided for all three rear passengers.

Pollution Fighters help air quality in U.S. dramatically

During the past 28 years, air quality in the U.S. has improved dramatically. To keep the country on the road to reduced pollution, drivers can heed these hints:

- Keep your tires properly inflated, balanced and rotated. This will not only boost gas mileage but extend the life of your tires. Remember radial tires produce less air pollution than do bias-ply tires.

- Keep your car tuned, its fuel filters clean and its emission control working right.

- Consider car pooling. If 100 people who drive to work alone paired up for two weeks a year, they would save 75 pounds of hydrocarbons, 30 pounds of nitrous oxide, 550 pounds of carbon monoxide and 500 gallons of gasoline.

This information comes from the Foundation for Clean Air Progress, a non-profit, non-partisan organization. To learn more about the progress America has made against pollution, and the opportunities that lie ahead, visit the Foundation's website at www.cleanairprogress.org.

To reduce pollution, don't let your car idle for more than a minute or two if you're waiting at a drive-through window or for a drawbridge to come down.

Summertime auto maintenance tips

According to the experts at the National Institute for Automotive Service Excellence (ASE), automotive breakdowns occur frequently during the summer season. Summer's heat, dust, and stop-and-go traffic are tough on vehicles.

To help with summertime maintenance, ASE offers the following tips. Some are easy to do; others should be performed only by a skilled auto technician.

Getting started — The best planning guide is your owner's manual. Read it, and follow the manufacturer's recommended service schedules.

Air conditioning — A marginally operating air-conditioning system will fail in hot weather. Have the system examined by a technician who is ASE-certified in air-conditioning repair and service. You'll be doing the environment a favor, too, since poorly maintained air conditioners can leak ozone-depleting chemicals.

Cooling system — The greatest cause of summer breakdowns is overheating. The tightness and condition of drive belts, clamps and hoses should be checked by a pro. The cooling system should be completely flushed and re-filled as recommended. The level, condition and concentration of the coolant should be checked periodically. (A 50-50 mix of antifreeze and water usually is recommended.) Do-it-yourselfers, wait until the engine has cooled before removing the radiator cap. Do not dump old antifreeze/coolant into streams or sewers. Oil — Change your oil and oil filter as specified in your manual. Many repair shops will accept your used oil; never dump it on the ground or into streams or sewers.

Engine performance — Replace other filters (air, fuel, PCV, etc.) as recommended. Have engine driveability problems (hard starts, rough idling, diminished power, etc.) corrected at a good shop with modern testing equipment and ASE-certified technicians. In addition to getting better gas mileage, you'll help lessen air pollution by keeping your engine at peak performance.

Windshield wipers — A dirty windshield causes eye fatigue and can pose a safety hazard. Replace worn blades and keep plenty of windshield-washer solvent on hand to combat insects and road dust.

Tires — Tires should be rotated about every 5,000 miles. Check tire pressures once a month, but let the tires "cool down" first. Examine each tire for tread life, uneven wearing and cupping; check the sidewalls for cuts and nicks. An alignment is warranted if there's uneven tread wear or if your vehicle "pulls" on a flat, level roadway.

Don't forget to check your spare and be sure the jack is in good condition. Properly maintained tires last longer, saving you money and reducing the burden at landfills.

Brakes — Brakes should be inspected as recommended in your manual, sooner if you notice pulsations, grabbing, noises or longer stopping distance. Minor brake problems should be corrected promptly.

Battery — Batteries can fail any time of year, not just in the winter. The only accurate way to detect a weak battery is with professional equipment, but most people can perform routine care: scrape corrosion from posts and cable connections, clean all surfaces, and re-tighten connections. If battery caps are removable, check the fluid level monthly. Wear protective eye gear and gloves.

Area stables offer riding lessons and educational demonstrations for horse enthusiasts of all ages

By KORRINA GROM
Staff Reporter

Since the age of 13, Dawn Atlas shared her love of horses with others. She began as an assistant at a stable, caring for the horses and helping with demonstrations.

Now 70 years old, Atlas is the owner of Dawn Atlas Stables, which is located in Gurnee at Double W Stables, 18272 W. Washington St. Atlas said she has been working with Double W and its owners, Lyle Williamson, Peggy Waters, and Carol Williamson, for over a year. Prior to that, she worked in several locations, including Indiana.

Atlas offers riding lessons to people of all ages. During a typical month, she teaches between 90 and 100 lessons at a variety of skill levels. She works with beginners through advanced riders. In addition, there are several other teachers at the stable which can essentially offer any riding discipline.

For just $25 per lesson, students have the opportunity to enjoy a half-hour of riding. Atlas also allows the students to spend some time in the barn, learning about riding equipment as well as how to groom and care for the horses. Atlas said students generally get close to an hour with the horses, split between hands-on experience as well as riding.

Of the 60 horses at Double W, four belong to Atlas. Most of the horses, she said, are borders. During demonstrations, Atlas often uses her horses as well as those belonging to the stable's owners and other individuals.

Demonstrations are a special part of Atlas' work because they allow her time to give back to the community.

"I really enjoy doing (the demonstrations)," said Atlas, who held a riding demonstration for a group of children on March 30.

Boy Scout Pack 156 of Glenview, with den leaders Liz Garvey and Mindy Sivright, viewed the demonstration with Nancy White's Girl Scout troop 775 of Richmond. The Girl Scouts were working for a badge while learning about the horses.

"I have two horses here," said Sivright. "The boys are just doing this for fun. We take the boys out to let them see things they wouldn't normally see."

Several breeds of horses were paraded in front of the children, including a miniature horse and an Arabian. Atlas told the children that horses are measured by "hands" rather than rulers. A pony, for example, is usually under 14 hands and two inches.

Another interesting fact which the children learned was that one horse year is equal to about three human years, just as one dog year is equal to seven human years. One horse at the stable, "Comanche," is 37 years old, which is the human equivalent of being approximately 111 years old.

Atlas essentially gave the children the same lesson she would give one of her students. She first taught them about giving horses commands.

"Riding is a sport. The horse doesn't do it on its own," said Atlas.

She then taught the children about grooming a horse. Two assistants showed the children that a curry comb must be used first in order to bring dirt to the surface. Then, a hard brush is used to remove the dirt and excess hair. A soft brush is used on the horse's face. Finally, a towel is used to make the coat smooth and shiny.

One of Atlas' students, Britta Lubkaman of Antioch, rode a horse for the children to show them how to make the horse start, stop, and turn. Lubkaman participated in a grand championship at the Lake County Fair last summer. She won the championship while riding one of Atlas' horses.

Atlas said she does charge a fee for these riding demonstrations.

Whether taking private lessons or participating in a group demonstration, one thing participants cannot practice is trail riding. The stables do not have the room for an elaborate trail system. However, Atlas said between eight to 10 riders go to nearby trail systems on the weekends.

"We have the best riding paths in the country in this area," said Atlas. "Many people load up the horses on the weekend and go to trails."

Mainly, Atlas does a lot of teaching. She coordinates the riding school for her stable as well as some of the lessons for Double W. Most importantly, she enjoys her job.

"The most rewarding thing for me is seeing the communication between the horse and rider. There's a lot of feeling between them," said Atlas. "I like seeing the camaraderie between them."

She said many people do not consider a horse's feelings but just hop on the horse and expect it to do all of the work. However, students of her school learn that riding is a sport and that commands are essential.

"It's an age-long sport," said Atlas. "It's something you can always do. Riding is something people can enjoy their entire lives."

Fine - let's have a family meeting and find out."

That turned out to be a fatal error on my husband's part. He told me later that he actually thought our ten year old son would side with him on the puppy question, which was nearly as naïve as expecting bipartisan voting in American politics.

"So, how would you and your sister feel about getting a new puppy?" my husband asked. When they stopped shrieking, "PUPPY! YES, YES, YES!", my husband looked around desperately for an ally. He spotted our dog Foxy, and his face lit up with a "Gotcha!" grin. After all, Foxy is sweet and obliging, and would do most anything we asked of her.

"Okay, Foxy," said my husband, "What do YOU think? Give me your paw if you DON'T want a puppy."

Foxy did not even give him the time of day. Too bad my husband didn't remember that Foxy will do anything we ask of her... FOR FOOD.

Still, I assured my husband that I would keep his concerns in mind, and I would not make a final decision until the puppy's picture arrived in the mail.

"After all," I told him, "what if I look at the picture and think he's homely?"

"Right! You'll take one look at that picture, and it won't matter if that puppy has crossed eyes and a nose like a warthog. You'll think he's cute anyway."

I had to admit he had a point, there. After all, I WAS under the influence of the egg people, and what mother ever found her new "child" unattractive? I don't think I've ever heard an instance where the doctor holds up the newborn baby and the mother says, "Oh, yuck, honey - he looks just like your derelict Uncle Rodney. Sorry, Doc - you can keep this one."

So, of course, he was right. The picture came in the mail, and two weeks later, I drove to Wausau, Wis. to pick up the latest addition to our family: Elvis, the Welsh Corgi.

As I drove home with my short-legged bundle of doggie joy tucked safely in his crate with his blanket and toys, I must admit I had a moment when I wondered if I'd made a big mistake. About his name, that is. After all, if the puppy ever gets lost, and we hand out flyers that say, "Have You Seen Elvis?", you can imagine the type of crank calls we're going to get!

But soon, my worries were forgotten. At one point, I was stopped at an intersection waiting for the light to change, and Elvis began to whine. I looked back at his cute little face and cooed some words of reassurance.

"Elvis! Baby Elvis! Mommy wuvs you!"

He gazed right back at me, with that expression of complete trust and adoration that sets motherly hearts aflutter. THIS is what it's all about, I thought. Isn't motherhood wonderful? Right after that, Elvis threw up in his crate.

So now I've begun sending those wisecrack egg people a message of my own:

"Hysterectomy."

HOROSCOPE

Aries — March 21/April 20
Relax, Aries. Don't let a minor disagreement with a co-worker set off your temper. He or she didn't mean any harm. Besides, everyone is entitled to his or her own opinion. A loved one asks a favor of you. While you don't want to get involved, you know that you have to do something. Try to help him or her out.

Taurus — April 21/May 21
It's going to be a great week, Taurus. You don't have too much on your schedule, so there is plenty of time to enjoy yourself. Take the time to do the little things that you haven't been able to get to for a while — read the newspaper, go to a movie, or call a friend whom you haven't talked to in a long time.

Gemini — May 22/June 21
You're on the hot seat at the beginning of the week. A close friend loses something important, and all evidence points to you being the culprit. While you haven't done anything wrong, prepare to defend your honor. However, don't get too upset. Things will be cleared up by mid-week. Leo plays a key role.

Cancer — June 22/July 22
Don't keep your emotions bottled up this week, Cancer. Instead, confront the person who is getting on your nerves. He or she has no idea that you're bothered by what's going on. A loved one needs some advice. Try to be honest with him or her — even though you know that what you have to say won't be appreciated.

Leo — July 23/August 23
Keep your eyes and ears open when it comes to business, Leo. Those around you aren't telling you everything there is to know. Try to find out what's going on. A friend of a friend wants to get to know you better. Be cautiously optimistic. There's a future for the two of you if you play your cards right.

Virgo — Aug 24/Sept 22
Don't bite off more than you can chew this week, Virgo. Your schedule is full; you can't take on any more responsibility. The person whom you've been seeing asks to take a break. Don't be upset about this. A little time apart is sure to strengthen your relationship.

Libra — Sept 23/Oct 23
You get into an argument with a close friend early in the week. Don't let it get you down. Neither of you means what you say, and soon enough, both of you will realize this. Things will be back to normal by the week's end. Aries plays a key role.

Scorpio — Oct 24/Nov 22
Stand your ground when it comes to a financial situation on Wednesday, Scorpio. Don't let others tell you what to do. You can make your own decisions. A close friend turns to you in a time of need. Be there for him or her.

Your efforts will be appreciated.

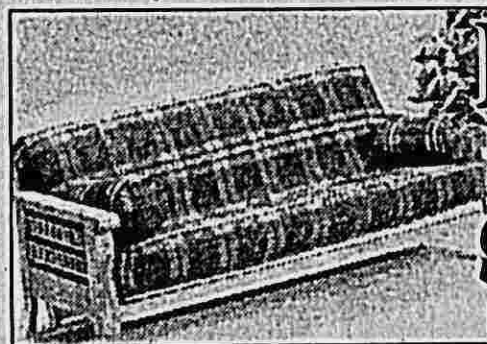

Sagittarius — Nov 23/Dec 21
Don't beat around the bush when talking with a business acquaintance about an important issue. He or she needs to hear the truth — and you're the only person who will tell it. A relative introduces you to an interesting person. Get to know him or her better. It definitely will be worth the effort.

Capricorn — Dec 22/Jan 20
Keep to yourself this week, Capricorn. Those around you are involved in some difficult situations. It's much better that you don't get drawn into the fray too. A close friend wants to talk with you. Listen to what he or she has to say. It could enhance your social life.

Aquarius — Jan 21/Feb 18
There's so much going on this week, Aquarius; that you just don't know which way to turn. Try to stay calm and organized. Set your priorities in order. It's the only way to accomplish anything. The others involved will be impressed with your efforts. Pisces plays an important role on Thursday.

Pisces — Feb 19/March 20
Even though you may want to help a business associate who is in trouble, don't. You'll be able to make him or her look good, but only after making yourself look incompetent. Just focus on your own situation. That special someone has a surprise for you this weekend. Enjoy!

'The Mod Squad' should have been left in peace

Bell bottoms, platform shoes, television shows from the 1960s and 1970s; what do they all have in common? Someone keeps trying to revive them.

"The Mod Squad" is the latest attempt to bring deceased pop-culture back to life, but unfortunately this one still lacks a pulse.

The television show, which ran from 1968-1972, and now the film, both follow three teenage criminals who cut a deal with police to do undercover work in exchange for their freedom.

Julie (Claire Danes), Linc (Omar Epps), and Pete (Giovanni Ribisi), are the three hip young ex-criminals who obviously were not chosen for the police work based on their brains. (Pete barking at a picture of a dog is supposed to be funny.)

Modern fashion and a young face are supposed to blend these teens in enough to get them behind the scenes to places the police can't go. As for the modern fashions, these movie review

three mod dressers wear practically the same thing through the entire film.

Apparently there are no actual police officers who look young enough to go undercover at a bar.

Pete (Giovanni Ribisi), Julie (Claire Danes), and Linc (Omar Epps) are the three hip young ex-criminals who star in this movie version of the television show from the 60' and 70s.

The bar scene makes the film confusing because the "squad" is passed off as teens, yet Julie gets a job serving drinks.

It would have made more sense if the clubs they were trying to infiltrate were under-21.

As for going unseen, that does not really work either. Linc, dressed as an everyday teenager, walks across the street in the direction of a suspect and for some unknown reason the suspect yells "cop" and the bad guys scurry away.

This is just one example of the auto-pilot, brain-dead, so dull it is confusing, plot line.

The film even begins by insulting the intelligence of the viewer by defining the words mod and squad.

The lack of new ideas in Hollywood has spawned relentless attempts to resurrect long-gone television programs.

Some things should be left long-gone.

"The Mod Squad" is not only a poor update of the television show it takes its name from, but it also rips off other movies to the point where it is so self-aware of its cliché plot that the characters spout out lines from movies they are attempting to steal from.

THE MOD SQUAD

Rated R

The filmwork, soundtrack, clothing, and cars give the retro feel of the 60s and 70s, but also limit the film to that cheesy television show feel.

Even the formation of the mod squad is rushed and not really explained.

It could have been more interesting if the viewer would have been allowed to see how these three were as criminals.

It might have also helped to see the three main characters use some of their criminal contacts or at least their street knowledge when fighting crime.

Having more action and a better plot would also have helped.

Instead, the film has less life than most television shows, making the 94-minute running time mercifully short.

In the end, the attempts to revive this deceased television vehicle are futile and the pulse of this show never gets above a flat-line.

I give "The Mod Squad" one very stale popcorn box out of a possible five.

Survey: children don't learn about first aid until incident occurs

If an incident arises that requires first aid, does your child know the right steps to take? In a recent survey of children and their caregivers, the majority of children said they are not taught about first aid until the time of injury. Likewise, the majority of caregivers (81 percent) said their child learns about first aid when an injury occurs.

The survey, completed by 3M, a leading, global manufacturer of Nexcare brand first aid products, asked children and their caregivers a similar set of questions about how and when to treat certain injuries and where children learn about first aid.

"It was surprising to learn that children are not taught about first aid until they hurt themselves," said Susan Wasserman, marketing operations manager, 3M Consumer and Professional Health Care. "If children were to learn proper first aid procedures prior to injury, they'd be better equipped to help themselves when they encounter a cut, scrape or bruise."

Both caregivers and children agreed the responsibility of teaching first aid usually falls upon family members - especially mothers (57 percent of caregivers and 63 percent of children answered this way).

However, fathers also are taking on this responsibility. Nearly one-third of children surveyed said their father is primarily responsible for teaching them about first aid. Eighteen percent of children said school personnel were responsible for first aid education.

When caregivers and children are asked to recall the first aid steps they typically follow when treating a minor injury, such as a scraped knee or cut, a similar sequence of events are mentioned by the two groups. The majority of caregivers (89 percent) cite "clean/wash" the injured area as one of the first steps that must be taken when treating a minor injury. A significantly lower percentage of children (52 percent) remembered this step. The majority of children in all age groups (6-10 years old) cite applying a "dressing" or bandage as one of the first steps in treating minor injuries.

The most popular products purchased by caregivers for the treatment of minor injuries are bandages and topical medications. More than two-thirds of caregivers said they have purchased first aid products designed especially for children. Most caregivers said within the past year, they had purchased child-specific bandages (82 percent), specifically cartoon bandages (58 percent), colored bandages (18 percent), and glow-in-the-dark bandages (3 percent).

Overwhelmingly, three-fourths of caregivers said they learned about first aid products from the media, primarily TV commercials (58 percent) and magazine advertisements (40 percent). They also mentioned store shelves and medical professionals as sources of first aid product knowledge. Children typically look to their parents, school and medical professionals as their source for information.

The study was conducted among more than 200 children (ages 6-10) and 104 caregivers (ages 18-65). The study was conducted nationally via telephone and participants were chosen at random. The caregiver portion of the survey has a margin of error of plus or minus eight percentage points. The child portion of the survey has a margin of error of plus or minus six percentage points.

The Illinois Poison Center provides poison tips for parents

The Illinois Poison Center (IPC), a subsidiary of the Metropolitan Chicago Healthcare Council (MCHC), has teamed up with nearly 100 poison centers from around the country to heighten poison prevention awareness by providing three important poison prevention tips for parents and child care providers.

The IPC operates 24 hours a day, 365 days a year, dispensing advice via a toll-free 800 number to Illinois residents and health care professionals about the treatment of poisonings, overdoses, occupational accidents, hazardous material incidents, venomous bites and other poison-related concerns.

In 1998, the IPC documented nearly 83,000 poisonings and information cases, and of these, 56 percent involved children six years and younger. "Nearly one-third of all exposure cases involved household cleaning products, analgesics or cosmetics/personal care products," explained Tony Burda, R.Ph., associate director of the IPC. "Families can implement the following three strategies to prevent poisonings and ensure prompt, appropriate care in the event of an accidental poisoning."

#1: Post the IPC number near all telephones

The IPC is the only 24-hour poison control center designated by the Illinois Department of Public Health, and can be reached toll-free statewide at 1-800-942-5969 (TDD 312-906-6185). "Several poison centers around the state have closed in recent years, and several others have directed their calls to the IPC, so it is important that the ipc hot line number should be included on all emergency number lists," commented Burda. The IPC provides "Mr. Yuk" stickers that feature the toll-free 800 number. These stickers can be affixed to each phone, and used as warning labels on containers.

#2: Keep home poisoning treatments on hand

The IPC suggests that families keep two home poisoning treatments - syrup of ipecac and activated charcoal - in the medicine cabinet of all homes where children live or are cared for. Syrup of ipecac, which costs approximately $2 for a fluid-ounce bottle, is a non-prescription treatment and the safest way of inducing vomiting in case of an accidental poisoning. Since using this product can be dangerous in combination with the wrong poison, no one should use it without first calling the IPC or a physician. Ipecac should not be used if poisoning occurs from caustic chemicals (such as drain opener) or petroleum oils (such as gasoline or paint thinner), or in any situation in which the person may be drowsy, losing consciousness or experiencing convulsions.

The IPC also is recommending that a bottle of activated charcoal be included in the home emergency kit. Activated charcoal, which comes in liquid or granulated form and costs approximately $5, is a product that "absorbs" or binds the poison or drug to it when it is swallowed. As with ipecac, activated charcoal should be avoided in poisonings from caustic chemicals and petroleum oils, and should only be used on the advice of a physician or poison center. Burda suggests that if you can't find activated charcoal at your local pharmacy, ask the pharmacist to order it for you.

#3: Practice sound poison prevention activities through the year.

The IPC is encouraging parents and child care providers to recognize the correct potential causes of accidental poisoning throughout the home by using the following household checklist: Remove household products from under the sink or anywhere children can reach them; keep all cleaning products and medicines in child-resistant containers with the original labels attached; destroy old or unused medication by flushing it down the toilet; store all cosmetics, health and beauty aids out of reach; identify poisonous plants and remove those that are dangerous; inspect all walls and windows for peeling paint; rinse out all empty bleach and fabric softener bottles before discarding.

Additional poison prevention tips, facts about the IPC and information on how to order poison center materials, such as "Mr. Yuk" stickers (bright green labels that identify poisonous materials), are available to the public on MCHC's Web site at www.mchc.org/ipc.

The Illinois Poison Center (IPC) operates a toll-free 800 number to dispense advice to Illinois residents and health care professionals about the treatment of poisonings, overdoses, occupational accidents, the Metropolitan Chicago Healthcare Council (MCHC), a membership and service association composed of nearly 125 hospitals and health care organizations working together to improve the quality of health care services in the metropolitan Chicago area.

An oompa loompa can teach us a lot!

Hi Dr. Singer,

The other day, we had the opportunity to sit with our young kids and watch the movie, "Willy Wonka & the Chocolate Factory." I was amazed at how its old movie lessons are still so important in our new world. It seems to be a movie that will never lose importance.

I wondered if you have ever seen it and what you think about its lessons. Are they outdated or still meaningful? D.D.

Dear D.D.,

That is one of my very favorite movies and I never get tired of it! I love the lessons and the Oompa Loompas. I think we would all do well to watch it once a year. For those of us who haven't seen it or haven't seen it in a long while, let's look at those lessons.

We start (in order of disappearing kids) with Augustus Gloop. This is the very large, gluttonous child who cares nothing about anyone or anything else but food and eating. His incredible appetite gets him ultimately caught in a chocolate tube.

Then we have Violet Beuxregard who chews gum like a cow chewing its cud. She ends up leaping before she looks, grabs gum that she shouldn't and becomes a blueberry and needs to be juiced.

Then we have the adorable and sweet Veruca Salt (for those of you who wonder, Veruca is also a name for a wart.) Veruca is the most precious of them all. Anything Veruca wants, Daddy gets for her instantly. If Veruca doesn't get what she wants, she screams until she gets it. We also have Mike T.V. Bet you can't guess what his problem is. He watches too much T.V. Because of his impulsivity, he eventually becomes the first child sent by T.V. particles and ends up about 4 inches tall.

PARENT'S PLACE

Last but definitely not least, we have Charley Bucket, a sweet unassuming kid who has nothing to his name, but has a heart bigger than all four of the other kids put together. He is honest and caring and always does what is right. His returning of the infamous Everlasting Gobstopper to Willy Wonka to protect the recipe from the eerie Mr. Slugworth (actually not Mr. Slugworth,) earns him the Chocolate Factory and a wonderful new home for his impoverished family.

I hope that I have created enough curiosity for those of you who have not seen it, to go out and rent it tonight!

This movie shows us that the real secret to success is to do what is right. To be honest and caring and to think about other people than just yourself, even if it costs you something. It also shows us that things like chronic temper tantrums, ingratiating any kid's every wish, watching too much T.V., caring only about ourselves and leaping before we look can do nothing good for us and even hurt us terribly.

It's true that this movie is old, but its lessons will always stand the test of time. Now, in a world in which lies, deceit, and dishonesty are in the forefront of every newscast, this movie is a treasure for kids and families and I recommend a trip to Loompaland once a year.

What you should know about anabolic steroids

First, possession and distribution of anabolic steroids for nonmedical purposes is illegal under federal law. Possession of steroids is punishable by up to one year in prison, and black market distributors can earn up to five years and a $250,000 fine. Second, any urine or blood test can identify the presence of steroids in the system, making it impossible to conceal their use. And most important, the use of these performance boosters are an immediate and long-term threat to personal health.

Medical vs. Athletic Use of Anabolic Steroids

Anabolic steroids are synthetic substances related to the male hormone testosterone. These protein building drugs are intended to be used by those recovering from illness to rebuild tissue and strengthen bone. Those using steroids for legitimate medical purposes take much smaller doses than those taking the drugs for muscle-building effects.

Body builders and other athletes who use steroids most commonly do so to increase the size and strength of their muscles. Using steroids alone (without training) will not increase strength. Athletes taking steroids commonly do so in cycles, alternating drug use with periods of rest, or non-use. This is thought to decrease the effects of extended chronic use, but because little is known about how the body reacts to various doses, it is hard to gauge what a critical dose is and whether the practice of "cycling" would lessen the possibility of irreversible effects.

Another common practice among athletes is known as "Stacking," where a number of steroids and other drugs are used together to amplify muscle-building effects. This practice is particularly risky because of possible unknown drug interactions.

Side Effects

Taking anabolic steroids will increase lean muscle mass and strength. They will increase the ability to train longer and harder with less need for rest between exercises, and they will accelerate weight gain. They will also increase the likelihood of severe acne, high blood pressure, a cholesterol imbalance, heart attack, stroke, and liver and kidney disease. Tendons (the fibers that attach muscle to bone) become stiffer and weaker with steroid abuse, which can cause tendons to tear. There are other gender-specific side effects.

Safe Alternatives

The safest and best way to achieve desired muscle strength is to train under a knowledgeable coach. A coach or certified trainer who is knowledgeable about the specific sport of interest to the athlete will understand how training, diet and the power of the mind can work together to achieve maximum athletic performance.

As for the variety of diet supplements on the market, scientific evidence regarding their effectiveness in building muscle strength is lacking. A recently publicized supplement, creatine phosphate, creates the effect of larger muscles by stimulating muscle cells to retain water. Whether it actually increases strength is unknown.

Steroids will improve athletic performance, but at the risk of life-threatening side effects. There are safer means of "pumping up" that won't threaten personal health. If you have questions about steroid use or diet supplements, talk to your doctor or a sports medicine specialist.

Stress management workshop offered

A four-week structured Stress Management Workshop will be offered Saturday mornings from 9-10:30 a.m. starting April 10 and continuing through May 1. The workshop is offered by the Advocate Center for Stress Management at Good Shepherd Hospital. The cost is $100 for the entire session.

The course is designed to help individuals learn how to deal with stress in their lives through relaxation techniques. These techniques can calm the sympathetic nervous system and have a beneficial effect on the heart, respiration and blood pressure; having participants look at their life areas and discover what stresses affect their wellness and learn how they can improve these; and learning to gain control over their lives through changes in attitude and exercise.

To register or to get more information, call HealthAdvisor at 1-800-323-8622.

The Advocate Center for Stress Medicine at Good Shepherd Hospital offers patients medically monitored therapy and education programs for many stress-related medical problems. The Center is part of Advocate Health Care, one of the Chicago area's largest health care organizations.

Understanding the truth about malignant melanoma

Malignant melanoma is the most life-threatening form of skin cancer, with more than 40,300 new cases expected to be diagnosed in 1998. Although malignant melanoma accounts for only 5% of reported skin cancer cases, it causes over 75% of skin cancer-related deaths. By the year 2000, an American's lifetime risk of developing melanoma will be one in 75. Over the past 2 decades, the incidence of malignant melanoma in Caucasians increased at a faster rate than that of any other cancer, with the number of cases doubling. The incidence rate is rising most rapidly in persons below the age of 40, and the disease in now the most commonly occurring cancer in women between the ages 25 and 29. The mortality rate for the disease has been increasing as well, with 7,300 melanoma-related deaths now occurring a year.

Excessive exposure to the sun activates melanin, causing skin to darken or tan as a protective measure. Melanocytes are the cells in the skin that produce melanin, the pigment that gives skin color. But sun exposure can also transform melanocytes into cancer cells; these cells may rapidly multiply, resulting in melanoma. Melanomas can also form on areas of the body that are not exposed to the sun or are exposed only intermittently. If untreated, melanoma can spread or metastasize from the surface of the skin to internal organs.

There is no single reason why a person gets cancer, yet certain risk factors are associated with malignant melanoma. Excessive exposure to harmful ultraviolet-A (UVA) and ultraviolet-B (UVB) sun rays can increase a person's risk of melanoma. One or more blistering sunburns before age 10 can increase the risk of developing melanoma, and those who have fair skin and red or blond hair get melanoma more frequently than dark-skinned, dark-haired people. Although melanoma risk increases with age, 50% of melanoma cases occur in persons under age 50.

A family history of melanoma is another risk factor. About 10% of all melanoma patients have one or more family members with the disease. Certain moles, called atypical moles or dysplastic nevi, are more likely to become malignant than others, and an overabundance of these hereditary moles can also increase the risk of melanoma. Melanoma is nine times as likely to occur in people who have had a previous melanoma.

Although people cannot alter their genetic makeup or change their family history, there are things they can do to decrease their risk of getting skin cancer. Avoiding excessive exposure to the sun, especially during the height of the day (10 a.m.-4 p.m.), wearing a sunscreen of Sun Protection Factor (SPF) 15 or above, visiting a dermatologist for routine check ups, and wearing long sleeves, hats, and sunglasses are all ways to decrease the risk of getting skin cancer.

As with many other forms of cancer, the earlier that malignant melanoma is detected, the better. One can detect skin cancer early by conducting regular skin self-exams and noting any changes in moles or birthmarks on the surface of the skin. Any change in shape, size, color, or symmetry, as well as any other irregularities, may indicate early stages of skin cancer. In addition to malignant melanoma, two other types of skin cancer exist: basal cell cancer and squamous cell cancer. Basal cell cancer accounts for 75% of skin cancer cases, and if treated, is usually curable. Approximately 20% of skin cancer cases are squamous cell cancer; in rare cases, it can spread to other body parts but is otherwise curable, as well.

Stages of Malignant Melanoma

According to the American Joint Committee on Cancer's TNM staging system, there are four distinct classes of malignant melanoma, based on the thickness of the primary tumor (T), disease status of the lymph nodes (N), and whether or not the disease has metastasized (M). The four classes are:

Stage I--Melanoma: Stage I is the most curable form of the disease. The malignancy is confined to one tumor on the highest level of the epidermis, with a tumor thickness less than 1.50 mm. The 5-year survival rate is greater than 90%.

Stage II--Melanoma: Stage II is still confined to one primary tumor with a thickness of greater than 1.50 mm. The 5-year survival rate is greater than 60%.

Stage III -- Melanoma: Melanomas in this stage have nodal involvement. The 5-year survival rate is 13% to 38%.

Stage IV--Melanoma: In this stage, the melanoma has metastasized to other organs. This is the most advanced stage of the disease, with a poor prognosis and survival time estimated at 4 to 6 months.

Treatment

Therapies for malignant melanoma include surgical excision of the melanoma, chemotherapy, radiation therapy, and biological therapy, using interferons. Methods of treatment depend on the status of the disease or its clinical stage. When the melanoma has spread to internal organs, a combination of treatments can be used, often surgery coupled with chemotherapy and/or biological therapy.

Martini asks for Waterway Board probe

State's Attorney's Office to look into possible wrongdoing

By JOHN ROSZKOWSKI
and SPENCER SCHEIN
Staff Reporters

A Lake County Board member is asking the State's Attorney's Office to look into alleged misconduct by some board directors of the Fox Waterway Agency.

Judy Martini (R-Antioch) said there have been allegations of "abuse of power by certain directors." There also have been allegations that employees of the agency were ordered to perform illegal acts by certain board directors, as well as of violations of the state's Open Meetings Act and possible "obstruction of justice," according to Martini.

"I thought the allegations were serious enough to take it to the State's Attorney and have them look at it," Martini said.

"It just appears certain directors have crossed the line," she added. "I think this whole matter needs to be cleared up."

Martini said she could not comment about specific individuals or allegations until the matter has been looked into by the State's Attorney's Office.

"We have a request into the State's Attorney and we'll see what happens," said Martini, who asked County Board Chairman Jim LaBelle to present her request to State's Attorney Michael Waller.

Waller said it's too early to tell whether the matter merits a criminal investigation. He said his office will talk to Martini in more detail about the specific allegations.

"I'm not sure what the basis for her request is. I couldn't tell from the letter," Waller said.

"If there is evidence, or reason to believe that there are criminal violations, we'll look into it," he added.

Waller said his office is currently reviewing a complaint about an alleged violation of the Open Meetings Act by the Fox Waterway Board. He said that complaint was made by a board member and an inquiry into the issue was also made by the law firm representing the waterway agency.

A special meeting of the Fox Waterway Board is scheduled for 7 p.m. Thursday, April 8, at the agency's office at 45 S. Pistakee Lake Road in Fox Lake.

Martini's request for an investigation came only a few days after a stormy March 25 meeting in which Marshall Lowe of the Waterway Board made a motion to fire Executive Director Ingrid Enriquez for not having meeting minutes completed. That motion was tabled pending an opinion by the state's attorney's office regarding the meeting minutes.

Lowe said some people have "tried to crucify me" for making the motion, but he was concerned that the failure of Enriquez to complete the meeting minutes put the board in jeopardy of violating the state's Open Meetings Act.

"She put the board in a very precarious position," he said.

He said the board had no typewritten meeting minutes between October 1997 and September 1998. After a board member raised the issue, minutes were completed for October and November, but the board has not received any minutes since that time, he said.

"I don't know why they should be upset at me. All I'm doing is asking them to do as adhere by state law," said Lowe.

Enriquez, however, said Lowe's motion to terminate her was election year "grandstanding."

"It's just amazing that someone would want to put the agency in jeopardy over a personal vendetta," she said.

Enriquez said her office keeps typewritten minutes of all regular board meetings. Because of limited staff, and the number of large projects the agency has been working on, some of the non-voting committee meetings had not yet been typed. However, she noted that there are handwritten minutes of all the meetings and all the meetings are tape recorded.

She said she had informed the board of directors on numerous occasions that the agency had limited staff and as a result they were behind on preparing the meeting minutes. She said it was never raised by Lowe as a "hot issue" until the last meeting in March.

"We are not keeping anything from the public," she said. "We keep very extensive notes and all of our meetings are on tape."

On a separate issue, Enriquez claims she was threatened by one of the board members for assisting in a

Osmond has busy first term

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

State Representative Timothy H. Osmond (R-Dist. 62) has introduced two pieces of legislation that have been passed by the House and have been sent to the Illinois Senate for further action.

He has joined others as co-sponsor for legislation that is still under consideration by legislators.

Osmond introduced House Bill 1413 which makes it illegal to take the identity of another person. People will commit a Class A misdemeanor if they knowingly take the name, birth date, and social security number of another person without that person's permission, and they do so in order to use that information for any unlawful purpose or to cause economic loss.

The bill further states that it would be a Class A felony if this is done for the purpose of evading a police officer.

In remarks prepared to support his bill in committee, Osmond said, "Other states have recognized that people are having their identities lifted and used in ways to either defraud or discredit others."

"This is a first step in controlling this," he said.

Osmond proposed the legislation based on surveys that show consumers are concerned about protecting this information, such as in the matter of Internet theft. Other states have experienced an increase in the use of false identities and are moving to deal with the problem.

The second piece of legislation, House Bill 1540, increases jail time for people who commit sexual offenses with "date rape" drugs.

In remarks prepared to support his bill in committee, Osmond said, "I ask your support in changing the current penalties for aggravated sexual assault and aggravated sexual abuse. It also changes the offense of aggravated abuse to a Class I offense."

Osmond will serve as co-sponsor for legislation. He is supporting a measure to create a fund to provide "seed money" for new ventures. Another bill will increase fines for illegal dumping on highways and the number of community service hours required of violators.

He is co-sponsoring legislation to allow Fire Protection Districts to sell property with certified appraisals. Another bill establishes a state-wide grand jury for computer sex crimes committed against youngsters. One bill would provide legal authority for counties to establish a university center.

Osmond is co-sponsoring legislation to mandate disclosure of "pay-day loan" interest rates.

Osmond is co-sponsoring legislation to permit pooling of county highway funds to enable them to obtain federal grant matching funds. "This bill will maximize use of federal transportation funding," Osmond said.

Forest preserve optimistic

By JOHN ROSZKOWSKI
City Editor

Supporters of the Lake County Forest Preserve referendum are "cautiously optimistic" as the campaign approaches its final days.

Campaign manager Linda Kellough said about 100 volunteers have been helping out with the referendum campaign, manning telephones and distributing campaign literature.

"The momentum is really building at this point," said Kellough. "We're cautiously optimistic. We've been getting nice response to our phone contacts."

The referendum on Tuesday's ballot asks voters if they will support a $55 million bond issue to help fund improvements to the county forest preserves.

Voter interest seems low despite a loaded ballot

By JOHN ROSZKOWSKI
City Editor

Despite a record number of issues on the Lake County ballot, interest in the April 13 election appears low.

Lake County Clerk Willard Helander predicts voter turnout for the election will be between 25 and 30 percent, based on early indications from absentee balloting.

Helander said absentee balloting has been so slow in some places that township clerks are beginning to wonder whether there's an election at all.

"The (township clerk) called from Grant Township and asked me: 'Is everything okay? Did you cancel the election?'" Helander quipped.

Grant Township Supervisor Gordon Kiesgen admits absentee voting has been very slow so far. Kiesgen said as of last week they had only seen 11 people who had voted absentee at the township office. He said they typically get about 120.

"It's very low for us because we usually have a lot more absentee voters by now," Kiesgen said last Thursday. "It's very unusual."

Kiesgen said it's particularly odd because of the fact there is a referendum on the ballot for a new grade school in Grant Township.

The Warren Township office on Washington Street in Gurnee also reported that the number of absentee ballots cast has been very low. As of Monday, only nine people had voted absentee at that location, according to a township official.

Absentee balloting in general has been lower than normal, except in the areas of Highland Park and Deerfield, according to Helander. There also seems to be quite a bit of interest in Hawthorn Woods, which has an advisory referendum about the proposed mall on the ballot.

Surprisingly, however, there hasn't a big surge in absentee balloting in Libertyville or Vernon Hills, where

PRESERVE: Open space bid

About $35 million of that money would be used for land acquisition. The rest would be for public access improvements to the existing forest preserves, such as restoration of prairies and wildlife habitat, expansion of the trail system including popular trails like the Des Plaines River Trail and West Loop Trail, and other improvements to open the preserves to the public.

Although the $55 million price tag may appear high, Kellough said the cost will be spread out across all Lake County residents. The owner of a $100,000 home would see an increase of just over $9 in their tax bill, according to forest preserve figures.

"That's what we've been trying to help people understand. The tax burden is shared countywide so it's relatively small," Kellough said.

Kellough could not provide exact figures on how much the referendum campaign has raised so far, but expects the campaign will reach its goal of $140,000. She said the campaign has received funding from a wide range of organizations, including excellent support from local environmental groups.

"We've got a variety of very heartening contributions from a wide variety of environmental groups and their members," she said.

Earlier this week, the Illinois Chapter of the Sierra Club announced its endorsement of the forest preserve referendum.

"Lake County is faced with ever growing sprawl; we need to ensure some open space for the county's humans and wildlife," said Evan Craig, chair of the Sierra Club's Woods and Wetlands Group.

According to the Lake County Forest Preserve District, fewer than seven of every 100 acres in Lake County are protected as a forest preserve.

MARTINI: Questions agency

federal investigation. Enriquez said Director Wayne Blake told her he was "going to take you down" if she did not stop cooperating with the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers in its investigation of Roy Gundelach's property. Gundelach is running for a seat on the agency in Lake County against Illinois Environmental Protection Agency employee Michael Mueller. He is also the agency's former project coordinator.

"We are a government agency," Enriquez said, "and as a government agency, we cooperate with other agencies."

"It was fully within our responsibility to cooperate with the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, a sister agency," she said.

That occurred on March 5, when the agency gave the Corps permission to use its equipment to investigate alleged violations of improper fill at Gundelach's property at his business in Ingleside. That investigation revealed 5 cubic yards of improper fill, which Gundelach said he missed removing more than 10 years ago, and will remove this summer.

Three days after the threat, Enriquez contacted friends at the U.S. EPA, where she formerly worked as an enforcement officer for eight years, who contacted the Federal Bureau of Investigations on her behalf.

"They (the board members) need to act in a professional capacity," Enriquez said. "We are all supposed to be on the same team."

Lowe said he believes the investigation of Gundelach's property is a political "witchhunt" because Chairman William Dam wants to keep Gundelach off the Fox Waterway Board.

VOTER: Interest seems low voters will decide whether or not to support a referendum for a new library, or in Gurnee where there is a hotly contested village race.

"We haven't see from our end that Libertyville, Vernon Hills or Gurnee are generating high amounts of interest, but we hope we are incorrect," she said.

The apparent low interest in the election is surprising since there are a large number of referendum issues and candidates on the ballot.

"We do have a record number of public issues on the ballot (in Lake County)," Helander said. "We have almost double the number of DuPage."

Absentee balloting in person for the election will continue until 5 p.m. Monday, April 12, the day before the election. People can vote absentee at the County Clerk's Office in Waukegan until 7:30 p.m. Friday and from 9 a.m. to noon Saturday.

The polls will open on Tuesday at 6 a.m. and will close at 7 p.m.

Perfect lunch

I'd like to know what's wrong with the Round Lake School Board? They have a lunch service that is perfect. They have nothing bad to say about it but they just voted in a new lunch program that is $50,000 higher a year. That $50,000 should go for books, or to improve the schools. They are coming up with a referendum. I don't understand why over five years it would be over $250,000 for food service. I want to know where the money is going to. We are already $8 million dollars in debt. I don't understand what the school board is doing.

Round Lake

Stop playing politics

At a recent board meeting in Round Lake Beach, six of the board members decided to conspire together against the mayor. This is basically not in conjunction with the slate that ran two years ago in 1997. That slate promised us as a village, a government of honesty and integrity and open government. Now rather than having that, we have a government of rumors, lies, and conspiracy. A trustee publicly made an attack on a mayor based on hearsay, something that cannot be proven, something that is absolutely ridiculous. Furthermore, the six of them conspired against the mayor to remove his secretary without consulting him. This type of conspiracy government is not needed in Round Lake Beach and I pledge all of them to stop playing the politics.

Round Lake Beach

Change board

I would like to thank the board of education for bringing in a new food service Chartwell, aka Canteen. Chartwell was thrown out of the City of Chicago for not following FDA regulations and now they are coming to Round Lake to serve our children. Parents, find out where your tax dollars are going before voting on April 13. If anything needs change in Round Lake, it's our board of education, not the food service. Parents beware-Chartwell is coming to serve your children.

Round Lake

Look at figures

As an employee of the Round Lake

School District food service, not living in the Round Lake District, I was appalled at what happened at the board meeting in regards to the bids for new food service. The board accepted a bid of a company that was $50,000 more plus from another company where I work, in hoping to improve better food for the kids. Figure this one out. Round Lake school still is in the "red" They happen to be the only district that are financially troubled in Lake County. Figure that one out. Why? The company that I worked for was a great company. They should stay there. Round Lake could save themselves $50,000 plus if they would have kept us. Let them know $8.2 million dollars right now is their deficit. They add another $50,000 times five years for the contract. $250,000 more they are adding onto their deficit. Are those people stupid or what?

Lake Villa

YES to sewers

When the rain falls here in our neighborhood, in unincorporated Antioch, our neighborhood wells turn into holding tanks; as do our lakes. Many people can't flush their toilets for days. We have lived here five years and we were sick from our well water for the first six months. Save our health and save our lakes. We say YES to a sewer system.

Unincorporated Antioch

Same dirty tricks

It appears that politics in Grayslake are heating up and going back to the same old dirty tricks they have always used. I have recently noticed that some very large, hand painted signs for a candidate for village trustee in Grayslake, recently disappeared. It would appear that incumbents are back to their usual tricks to try to keep the public from getting to know the other candidates. Apparently they would prefer that the public either not know anything about the candidates or just be misinformed. Residents in this town, should be able to learn who the candidates are. I sincerely hope that as they are evaluating candidates and going to the polls in April that they consider actions like this

Grayslake

Curios-er

I have read that Jim Walton in Fox Lake is not running for trustee as he said he was. I am curious, are the people that donated to his campaign, going to get their money back? I was one of the people that gave money to his campaign. That's my fault-I believed him.

Fox Lake

Keep taxes down

I have heard of people of selling their houses as much as for $100,000 less than what they should have sold for. Homes are not selling due to our high taxes. We cannot afford to lose any more money from our pockets. Vote 'No' for the school board referendum. Keep our taxes down. We are continuing to pay for the city of Fox Lake's poor decision-making. Keep this in mind when you go to vote.

Fox Lake

Need fresh blood

Help Grayslake to become a greater place to live by voting in some fresh blood on the village board to enforce the laws. Peace will be a welcome friend and will eliminate most of the bad blood. Mayor Carey should do what Oak Forest and Lake in the Hills did, they passed a civility resolution. "Civility resolution" is after years of unruly meeting where trustees address each other as "knuckleheads" or "liars." Part of this problem is created when there is an abundance of businessmen who are bosses and are used to giving orders without question. This doesn't work in governance. Many businessmen don't have the temperament or people skills that the job of trustee requires. An election of new trustees will help solve the problem

Got my vote

I have never met Ms. Hoselton, but she has my vote. It seems to me that she was the only one to stand up for all the taxpayers who can't use the sidewalk leading to Wadsworth Park. Mr. Sheptak speaks mostly of private contributions but who owns the land? Who pays the insurance for liability? Who is held responsible if someone is hurt on the sidewalk? The rest of the taxpayers in Wadsworth that's who. So it seems to me Mr. Sheptak, that Ms. Hoselton was the only one to stand up for the taxpayers in Wadsworth not just the ones who live next door.

Wadsworth

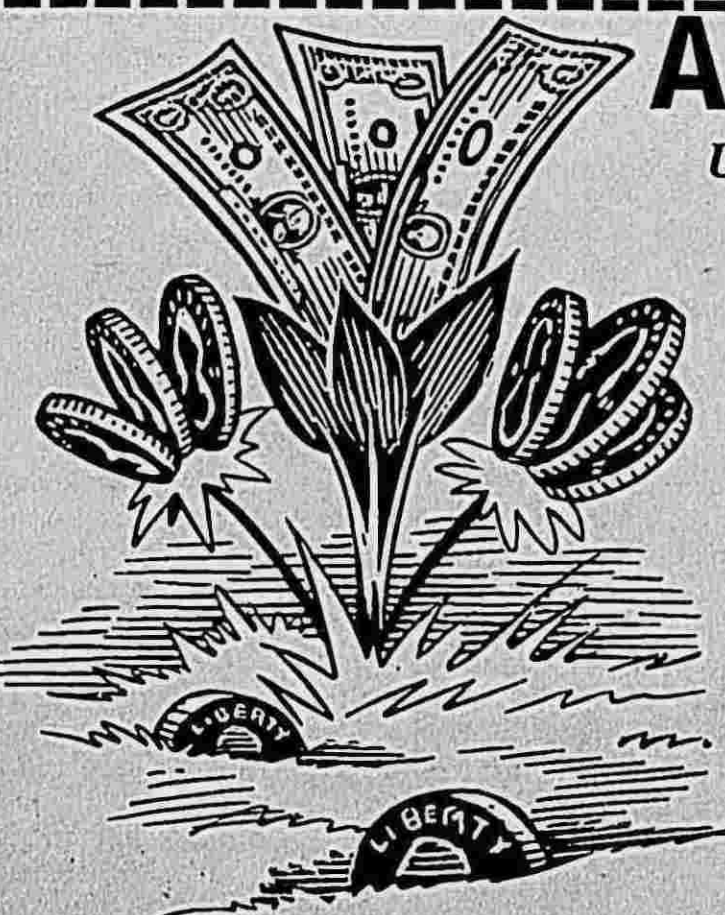

Either side-no harm

To the callers from Antioch regarding the sewers. Neither side will be harmed. Those who choose to get the sewers and pay for them will be OK and those that choose not to get the sewers and not pay will also be OK. How can this be? Just check with the Lake County Public Works Department on Winchester Road. About 20 years ago the county passed ordinances regarding mandatory sewer hookups, but the county has never enforced them. So who loses?

A DIGEST OF STORIES MAKING HEADLINES THROUGHOUT OUR REGION

Grayslake grad fights for his life

Grayslake—Chris Donahue, a graduate of Grayslake Community High School, is clinging to the hope that he will someday soon receive kidney and pancreas. It is not a hope without effort.

Donahue's fight for proper insurance coverage will be profiled in the documentary-style program, "The Awful Truth," which will air April 11 on BRAVO (check local listings for time).

He has lived with Diabetes for twenty years until two years ago his kidneys began to fail and he was no longer able to work.

Donahue was told that he would need a new kidney and a new pancreas, but his insurance provider would not honor his claim.

The television program will chronicle his fight against the insurance company, and his fight for life.

Crisis line to hold training course

Libertyville—Connection Resource Services, Inc. will be conducting "Power of Listening" training classes in Libertyville this month.

The classes will prepare interested participants to become crisis hot-line operators.

Connection's Crisis and Referral hot line is the only such service in Lake County that operates 24 hours per day, seven days per week.

In 1998, Connection's crisis line received approximately 35,000 calls.

The class course will be held on April 15, 17, 22, and 24 at the Evangelical Free Church, 431 W. Austin Avenue, Libertyville, from 6:30 to 10 p.m. on the two Thursdays and from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on the two Saturdays.

The classes are intended to be taken in succession, Weiler said, because different topics and stages will be discussed at each meeting.

Mundelein man wins lottery

Mundelein man wins $300,000

Mundelein—According to Illinois Lottery representative Lisa Donnelly, around 12 people matched five numbers in last Friday's Big Game drawing, and a Mundelein resident was one of the lucky winners.

The man bought two of the winning tickets at the Gilmer Shell Station, 25809 N. Midlothian Road. However, he has yet to come forward to the lottery agents, Donnelly said.

Laith Alani, the gas station owner, said the man went to the gas station to fill out a claim form.

"He told me he won $300,000 and filled out the form," said Alani. "This makes me feel like my [lottery] machine is ready to hit the big one."

School referendum to fund repairs

Round Lake—Round Lake School District 116 will attempt to pass two referendums in the April 13 election.

The first referendum is to build additions, remodel, equip, and repair existing school buildings due to the existing overcrowding problem, and expected enrollment increases.

Construction cost, estimated at a over $19 million, would be decreased by a state construction grant of at least $3.5 million, bringing the total to approximately $16 million. However, the school board said the grant could end up being as high as $5 million.

The second referendum is to increase the annual tax rate to purchase of education supplies such as books, which are much needed in the District. Current elective programs like music, computer literacy, and sports, depend on the educational fund to thrive.

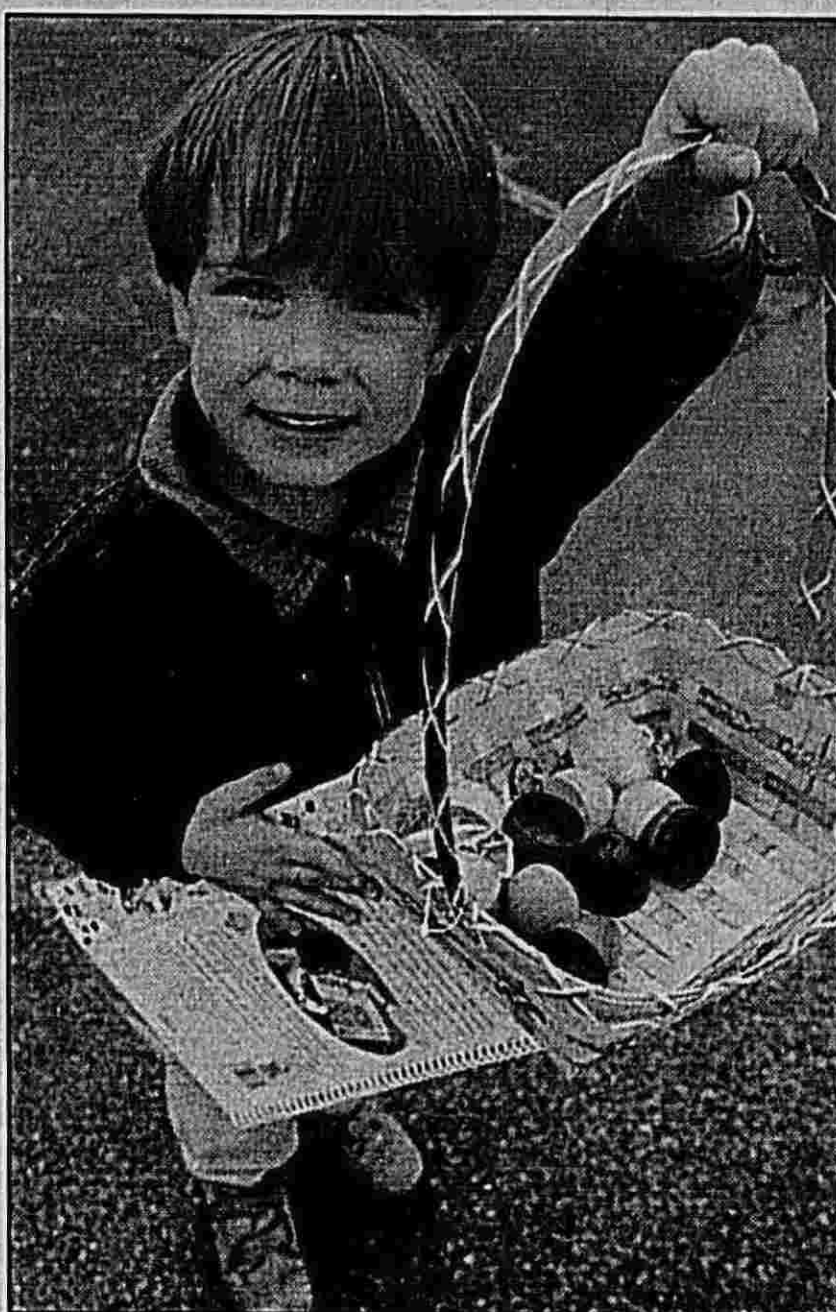

Library hosts Shakespeare festival

Gurnee—The Warren-Newport Public Library will be hosting a "Shakespeare on Main Street" festival on April 24 at 1 p.m.

The festival is part of the library's "Learn it at the Library Month," which coincides with National Library Week. During the festival, the P M & L Theater company will present a scene from "Much Ado About Nothing."

In addition, the Colfax Consort will perform Elizabethan music, and the Bristol Renaissance Faire Queen's Court will be present.

"There will be something for everyone," said Barb Brattin, head of technology.

Rescue squad receives award

Antioch—Antioch Rescue Squad and Antioch Fire Department First Fire Protection District have received the fifth annual Scene Call of the Year Award March 31 from Flight for Life—Northern Illinois for their July rescue at Sand Bar Boat and Motor Repair.

On July 9, at Lake Marie, Mark Bobowski, 34, of Des Plaines, dove from a pier into a foot of water to wash off sand from a volleyball game. He struck his head on the bottom of the lake and fractured the fifth cervical vertebra of his neck.

Bobowski is now a quadriplegic in physical therapy. He is regaining use of his arms and hands and improves every day. He walks with braces and crutches.

Flight for Life used three criteria to evaluate rescue work considered for their award: the complex planning and accident scene management of the rescue; how the helicopter was used; and the use of skills that go beyond the "call of duty" to treat the patient.

Township football in new league

Lake Villa—Lake Villa Township Youth Football and Cheerleading have made changes in their program for the 1999 season.

The Timberwolves has joined the Junior Football League of Northern Illinois.

The new league includes teams from Fox Lake, Warren Township, Round Lake, Mundelein, Highland Park, McHenry, Zion-Benton and Waukegan.

"This is a good league for our program. All the towns are fairly local with Fox Lake, Round Lake, and Warren only a few minutes away," stated Rick Johnsen, president of Lake Villa Township Youth Football.

"The programs are about the same size, and we should be much more competitive."

There is a web page with information about the program, directors, registration forms, schedule, sponsors, maps, news, and team rosters at www.tedsweb.net/LVTYF.

Village breaks ground for pool

Grayslake—The Village of Grayslake kicked off work on the new aquatic center April 6 when Grayslake Mayor Pat Carey, Esper Petersen, and Grayslake Park District President Jane Josephs broke ground in Central Park for the new community pool which is scheduled to open Memorial Day 2000.

Petersen's company, Nordic Properties will build the aquatic center, which will feature a body slide, water play features, sand play area, and underwater lights.

The pool, which will accommodate 1,000 bathers, could be expanded to a 1,500-bather pool in the future if the need arises.

Cost of the aquatic center is $1,965,000, with the Esper A. Petersen Foundation donating $750,000 and the village funding the remaining cost.

Fund-raiser for heart monitors

Lake Villa—Lake Villa Rescue Squad wants to improve the chances that local residents will survive a heart attack by starting a fund-raising drive to collect $50,000 to purchase three 12-lead electrocardiogram heart monitors.

A 12-lead monitor improves the medical view of heart problems transmitted by rescue squad personnel and allows hospital doctors to know what will arrive at their emergency room for treatment. Physicians then can apply appropriate medical treatment sooner instead of performing their own 12-lead tests after the patient arrives at the hospital.

The units are approximately $15,000 apiece and three of them will be needed for squad vehicles. In addition, about $5,000 worth of additional equipment will be needed to install and operate them effectively.

Donations can be sent to the rescue squad by mail. The address is Project Heart Saver, Post Office Box 4, Lake Villa, 60046.

Girl Scouts lend a hand

Round Lake—Round Lake Girl Scout Unit 720 will help to mark the first annual national celebration of Girl Scouts-Illinois Crossroads Council-wide Service Project "Hand-in-Hand" this month.

This year's theme is "Girls Helping Women and Children in Need." More than 25,000 Girl Scouts in Northwestern Illinois will participate within their own communities.

Girl Scout Unit 720 is made up of 41 troops, with more than 600 girls, and 160 adults. They plan to help promote family and community involvement by collecting items, such as food, cleaning supplies, household supplies, paper products, and personal care items, for A Safe Place/Lake County Crisis Center, which provides shelter and nonresidential services for battered women and their children.

Zion, Newport school referendums

Wadsworth—Two area school districts will have referendums on the April 13 election ballot.

Beach Park School District No. 3 has a $14.6 million referendum to upgrade existing school facilities and build a new middle school to accommodate the expected increase in enrollment.

Passage of the referendum provides a one-time construction grant from the state of $6.29 million.

Millburn School District No. 24 will attempt to pass a $9.9 million referendum to expand existing facilities to accommodate a 700 student increase over the next few years. The school district essentially wants to double itself by adding a second school building, that would include 35 new classrooms, a new cafeteria, library, band room, and science labs.

The district has been approved for a state construction grant of $4.42 million. If the referendum does not pass, there will be no grant.

Police make changes

Wauconda—The village board appointed Sgt. Daniel E. Quick as the new Wauconda Police Department deputy chief at the April 6 board meeting.

Quick, 44, has been with the department for 17 years, and replaces George A. Roberts III, who is now a sergeant, said Mayor James Eschenbach.

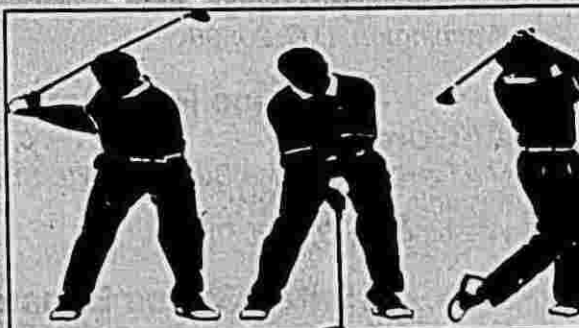

Quick will become chief of police when current Chief Michael R. Greene retires Sept. 5, after three years as chief and 28 years with the department.

Forest Dist. vote could be last ever

A strong argument can be made that Tuesday, April 13, will be the last time ever that the Lake County Forest Preserve District will go to taxpayers asking for bonding authority to acquire new lands. Why?

Simply because Lake County open space of the quantity and quality that would be appealing for public use is being consumed at such an astonishing rate there won't be any left.

That's why it is so important for voters to go to the polls Tuesday and mark their ballot in support of the Forest Preserve District's $55 million proposition. A total of $35 million has been earmarked for land preservation. The remainder of the measure is ticketed for habitat restoration, expansion and improvement of trails and a variety of other capital improvements.

Six years ago, district commissioners asked for and voters approved a $30 million bond referendum. That money was spent well. Today the 1993 referendum represents 1,687 additional acres and 10 improvement projects, some already finished and others in various stages of completion.

All told, district holdings encompass 20,794 acres. But to insure open space for the future and expansion of facilities that's not enough. Adding land to the Forest Preserve is one of the best devices to provide balance in the face of rampant development; a guarantee to protect the environment and quality of life.

America's prosperous economy offers attractive low interest rates for repayment of bonds. A vast majority of Lake County homeowners will pay approximately $20 or less a year in additional taxes to support the Forest Dist. program. The payoff for approval of the $55 million bonding request is huge. You won't get a better bang for your tax buck than voting yes for Forest Preserve bonds Tuesday.

Police in schools becoming a reality

Cops in the classroom. A little far-fetched, perhaps. But more and more police chiefs are supporting efforts to station uniformed officers in school buildings, especially junior highs and middle schools.

Stationing police in schools on a day to day basis can accomplish more than increasing safety and preventing violence. In the Round Lake area, the park district and the unit school are cooperating to acquire federal funding to heighten awareness of police as friends, mentors and role models in addition to crime prevention. Waukegan elementary district was the first Lake County school to apply for a Community Oriented Policing Services grant that provides three-fourths of police salaries with taxpayers assuming the remainder.

Even in the face of a trend, Lake County Regional Supt. of Schools Edward Gonwa acknowledged that school board members typically take the viewpoint that random acts of violence can happen despite adoption of internal safety procedures. This viewpoint is at odds with community policing concepts and practices. Without a doubt, the trailblazing in Waukegan and Round Lake will be observed closely by neighboring districts.

Sports drug test a courageous step

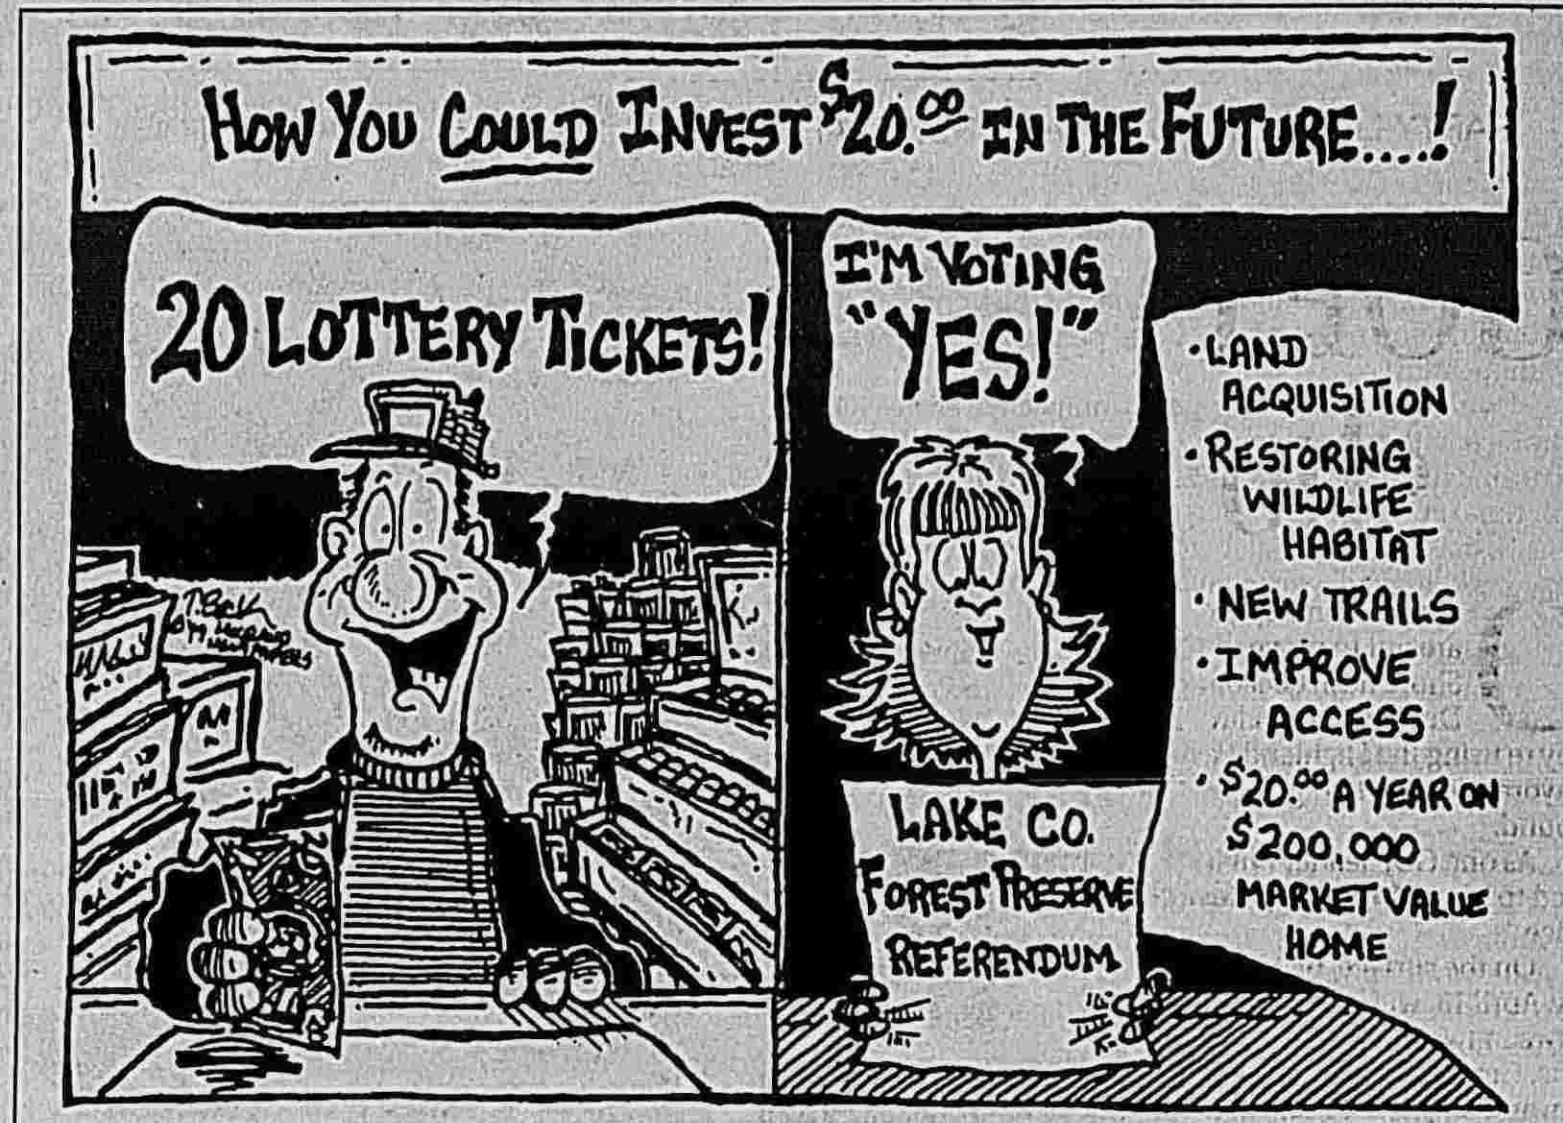

Considering all the hoopla devoted to reducing drug use among teenagers, it's surprising more high schools haven't adopted random drug testing for student athletes.

Parental opposition, foot-dragging by coaches, difficulty of gaining student support and intimidation from civil rights groups have combined to hold down implementation of a policy that is more than a decade old and upheld by a 1995 decision of the U.S. Supreme Court.

Beginning with the fall semester, Grayslake High School will become only the third school in the Chicago area to require student athletes be drug-free. Three times a year, 10 percent of athletes will be chosen at random for drug testing. Failure to pass will result in a three-week suspension from competition and completion of a required rehabilitation program.

At the core of singling out a segment of the student body for drug testing is the belief that student athletes are role models.

Denial is always an obstacle to combating drug usage among the young. Grayslake High School is to be congratulated for taking a bold step to fight teenage drug use. We don't buy the argument advanced by the American Civil Liberties Union of Illinois that the random test is an "insulting invasion of privacy." The insult is that more schools don't follow the lead of schools with the courage to combat drugs.

VIEWPOINT

What do time outs do for children?

Laughing with abandon, a curly-haired little girl darted away from the day care aide and her father, heading for the street on a run. Both adults intercepted the three-year-old just as she was about to plunge into a traffic lane.

Cradling the child safely in his arms, the dismayed father lectured his daughter, "That was unacceptable behavior. You are heading for a time out." A possible tragedy had been averted.

Time out is a sports term meaning an interruption in activity, a brief period to rest, recoup and reorganize for the next spurt of activity.

What is a time out as it relates to child rearing? This old grandpa has seen it invoked on four rambunctious grandchildren countless times. I've also seen unruly or restless tots get time outs invoked in check out lines, the playground, in church, at the mall.

Is a time out a form of punishment? As a time out relates to basketball, I don't think a time out is an interruption in throwing a tantrum, unruliness or dangerous behavior like the little girl dashing head-long into traffic after leaving day care. What are modern parents doing when they dish out a time out?

In that dim dark past of my youth, I remember a mom who kept a wooden spoon at the ready to deal with two free-spirited sons. The spoon could be directed to the forearm to obtain parental attention, sort of like a high stick in hockey. Mom also had a technique of taking hold of a bit of tender skin under the forearm between thumb and index finger that made you feel like your arm was clamped in a vice. Got your attention in a hurry. Guaranteed!

BILL SCHROEDER
Publisher

I'm "told" in the era before enlightened parenting and children's rights, moms and dads were known to "box the ears" or paddle recalcitrant offspring. Less violent responses to "unacceptable behavior" included sitting in the corner or going to bed without supper. Work assignments also worked well for moral suasion, especially if it involved cleaning the basement or climbing a ladder to wash windows. Nasty jobs. All pretty effective methods, by the way. But no time outs.

Calling less time outs and adopting more creative punitive responses might be more appropriate for modern parents to deal with kids who need direction or correction. But what do I know? I'm just an old grandpa.

Banning smoke

Chalk up another entity making life miserable for smokers. Ravinia will become a smoke-free environment beginning with the 1999 season entitled "The Season of the Century."

You still can lounge on the grass or enjoy a lawn picnic while listening to wonderful music. But don't light up. Executive Director Zarin Mehta has booked what he calls "An incredible season to end an incredible century."

Calling all rangers

Next to driving an ice cream truck, I can't imagine a better job—serving as a golf course ranger. Astride their golf carts, rangers have the sole purpose of moving along slow players. Rangers don't get paid, but they can play golf free when tee times are open while soaking up sunshine and fresh air. With five golf courses, the Forest Preserve Dist. "employs" the largest number of rangers, about a 100 or more. Lake County has one of the heaviest concentrations of golf courses of any place in the nation. To volunteer, contact John LaSorb at Brae Loch or Jack Malloy at Fort Sheridan. Bill Pantle, general manager of Countryside East and West is pretty well set for range riders.

The new ThunderHawk course near Zion could also use a few more rangers. Forest Dist. rangers began the 1999 season Thursday.

Ready for Y2K

Libertyville Police Chief Pat Carey displayed a sense of humor while talking to the Rotary Club about the serious business of contingency planning for potential Y2K disruptions.

"We've also got some very reliable equipment to deal with any emergencies," intoned Chief Carey as he held up a set of handcuffs, a can of mace, a battery operated police radio, a heavy-duty baton that becomes operational with the flick of a wrist and his trusty sidearm.

PARTY LINES

PARTY LINES, THE LAKELAND NEWSPAPERS' COLUMN OF POLITICAL OPINION, IS PREPARED FROM STAFF REPORTS.

GOP eyes Geraci win for shoreline comeback

Organization Republicans are out to prove the North Shore hasn't become a Democratic enclave and they're using the Highland Park mayoral election to regain lost ground.

As one GOP leader put it: "We need to keep Mayor Ray Geraci in office."

On the surface, balloting Tuesday, April 13, will be a show-down between two long-time protagonists, Geraci, a registered Republican, and Atty. Dan Pierce, a former Highland Park mayor and ex-Democratic state representative.

Republicans still are smarting from the loss in 1996 of the Dave Barkhausen state senatorial seat to State Sen. Terry Link (D-Vernon Hills) and last year's upset victory by State Rep. Susan Garrett (D-Lake Forest).

The GOP sees a Geraci win Tuesday as firming up the faithful to retire Link, who also serves the party post of Lake County Democratic chairman, and retake the 59th District General Assembly seat once held by Lt. Gov. Corinne Wood.

Geraci and Pierce aren't involved in partisan bickering, although the local campaign has boiled down to a grudge match between their supporters. Mayor Geraci has been hailing Highland Park's downtown revitalization and using flower-shaped campaign slings to focus a message of community beautification.

Both Geraci and Pierce are spending freely, including purchase of trailer advertising on a television weather channel.

Mayoral aspirants

In other mayoral balloting Tuesday, incumbent Wadsworth Mayor Don Craft is expected to cruise to another term over Trustee Evelyn Hoselton, a thorn in Craft's side and a constant critic. Win or lose, Hoselton will be around. She's at mid-term.

Jan LaBelle, wife of Lake

Gash: Lands Carville/Matalin team as guest speakers

Pappas: Time for a new image

County Board Chairman Jim LaBelle, is regarded a decided underdog in a race with popular Lane Harrison for mayor of Zion. Another underdog is Michael J. Burns, who is challenging the caucus nominating system in Lake Forest where Howard J. Kerr was selected to run for mayor in the city's unique slate-making process.

Lincolnshire Mayor Barbara LaPlana, a lightning rod for controversy, is favored to retain her office in a contest with Brett Blomberg.

Brian Rubin and Ellott Harstein, mayoral opponents, are out to fill a leadership void in Buffalo Grove created when Sidney Matthias was elected a state representative from a south Lake County 51st legislative district.

Political couple coming

The political sparring couple of James Carville and Mary Matalin will be featured speakers at the JUF Government Agencies Division Dinner, June 2 in Chicago.

North Shore Democrat Lauren Beth Gash, state representative from the 60th district, is chairing the 1999 Government Agencies Division of the Jewish United Fund-Israel Fund, dinner.

Carville is currently a political consultant to Ehud Barak, Labor Candidate for Prime Minister in Israel.

Changing image

Fox Lake Mayor Jim Pappas is hoping the board will approve a contract to rewrite the village's comprehensive plan at their next board meeting. Pappas, who was elected two years ago, ran on a platform of revitalization and reworking the plan.

"It's time we stop saying we are Illinois' number one resort town," said Pappas. "We earned that distinction at the turn of the century and the last resort burned down in the 1960s. We are not a resort town, anymore."

The consultant writing the new comprehensive plan will involve the community through a series of focus groups.

Whom to blame for what's in a name?

Our family names (surnames) are among our most precious legacies but sometimes they can be funny. I should know, my name is pfunny.

Hardly anyone spells it right. I suppose my ancestors could have dropped the "P" somewhere along the line, but that would spoiled the pfun.

Now I am the only Pfarr in our Lakeland-area phone book, along with Pfaffenbach, Pfanzelter, Pfutzenreuter and others whose ancestors came over from Germany.

There are eight Farris in our phone book. I could have been just another Farr. My Polish-American friend Bill Sobol says he's always regretted that his father shortened their name from the more ethnically eloquent Soboleski.

I began wondering about names again when I noticed our phone book lists 26 Wests but only one East (David of Mundelein). There have been some famous Wests, including Mae, the actress, and Jerry, the basketball star.

Our phone book lists seven Norths but only two Souths (Christine of Round Lake and Donald of Libertyville). Well-known Norths include Ollie, the Marine officer turned television personality, and Andy, the golfer.

Here's a stunner: There are 146 Youngs in our phone book but only one Old (Robert of Lindenhurst). Apparently, lots of folks want to be Young but few want to be Old.

Famous Youngs include Brigham, the Mormon leader; Cy, the baseball pitcher; actress Loretta and actors Robert, Gig and Burt (although the latter was born Byron Barr).

Generally, people love their names. If not, they change them. That's how Frances Gumm became Judy Garland, Aaron Chwatt became Red Buttons, Bernard Schwartz became Tony Curtis, Benjamin Kubelsky became Jack Benny, and Danielovich Demsky became Kirk Douglas.

THE PFARR CORNER

Jerry Pfarr

I always sympathize with someone who constantly has to explain the tricky way his or her name is spelled.

Years ago, when I would phone for a pizza, I would have to spell out P-F-A-R-R. And the pizza person would ask something like, "Is that T-S-?"

"No," I would explain, "P' as in pretty, 'F' as in funny."

Eventually, I decided to just say my name was Arnold Palmer and a half-hour later I would go out and pick up Arnold Palmer's pizza.

A name like ours can come handy sometimes. My Uncle Nick co-owned a gasoline station along with a fellow named Jim Neer. Their business became known far and wide as "Pfarr and Neer."

My father and four brothers also owned a gas station. Their slogan was, "The Best by Pfarr."

In early Biblical times each person had only one name, such as Adam, Eve, Isaiah and Solomon. Family names caught on in England in the Middle Ages. There were so many Johns, Roberts and Thomases, with nothing to tell them apart, that people began referring to them as John the smith, Robert the carpenter, or Thomas the baker.

Marriage can alter the original name plan. If Olivia Newton John married Wayne Newton and then Elton John, she would be Olivia Newton John Newton John.

If Glenn Close married into my family, she would be Glenn Close Pfarr.

And then there's Elizabeth Taylor Hilton Wilding Todd Fisher Burton Warner Burton Fortensky.

Village should just say no to noisy power plants

The sound of a 737 jet airliner. In your back yard. Twenty-four hours a day. From May through October. Residents of Libertyville, if the proposed "peaker" power plant becomes a reality the quality of life in this community will suffer greatly.

Perhaps you are not aware of the plans and discussions going on with out-of-town companies like Indeck Energy Services to build a 300-megawatt power plant on the west end of town. I hope that you familiarize yourself with the pros and cons of this proposal and quickly. The Illinois EPA has already given them a permit and "run 4,000 hours a year."

Be skeptical of assurances that underplay the noise generated by the two jet engines that will power this plant. Scientific measurements by the Lake/McHenry Environmental Co-operative at an existing 280-megawatt site indicate a noise level of 70db at a distance of a half-mile. Even at three miles (i.e. most of the Village) the roar of these engines will be more than a little irritating.

I choose to live in Libertyville, and not in shouting distance of O'Hare, partly because the quiet of country summer nights is important to me. If you feel the same, let your Village Trustee know right away that you are opposed to power plants in Libertyville.

Vote yes for special recreation

Joining a special recreation association will allow the Grayslake Park District to provide for all the citizens of our community, including those with disabilities.

Specially trained staff, adapted and/or modified equipment and one-on-one assistance are benefits that the park district cannot afford on our budget. As immediate past treasurer of the park district, I know first hand how the tax cap has severely limited our annual funding and our bonding authority. A bonding authority of $18,500 per year and a 22¢ per $100 assessed valuation, which for the average homeowner is about $100 per year, does not allow us to provide these services for our special needs residents.

On April 13, the citizens of Grayslake and Hainesville will have an opportunity to vote on a special recreation referendum question. Please don't be complacent. Vote to help your neighbors. It's the right thing to do.

Response misses point

Antioch Mayor Shineflug's long and detailed response to my concerns regarding the Deercrest development are well taken, but they completely miss the point.

Study after study proves housing developments do not pay their way. In fact, developments such as Deercrest will conservatively cost the local taxpayers $50,000 per unit over the next 20 years in tax shortfall.

However, development can be made to pay its way, which it currently is not doing.

Yes, the locally-elected village, State and county officials must have the will and the incentive to insist development pay its way.

No, "the continuing issue of pro-growth versus anti-development is not as simple as we may like" in fact is NOT an issue at all. This statement only confuses the facts, because there is no such thing as anti-development.

Legally, development cannot be opposed, simply because it is development. However, it can be made to pay its way and this is the only issue.

A 'retail' freight train

Gurnee's Board of Trustees has ridden an out of control "retail" freight train for more than a decade.

Traveling at unmanageable speeds, the board has gobbled up hundreds of acres of vacant land, churning out car dealerships, grocery stores and soon to be seen water parks, conference centers and hotels. They have trampled over the quality of our neighborhood life, turned traffic into a nightmare and passed out tax rebates like candy on Halloween.

On Election Day, April 13, we have the opportunity to vote for change. We can vote for the three candidates that oppose inappropriate retail growth in Gurnee. We can vote for candidates that question the fiscal practices and behavior of the board. We can vote for Don Rudny, Kristina Kovarik and Ray Damijonaitis.

OK Gurnee, it is up to us. We have to get out and vote. We have to vote for change. I am going to vote for Ray Damijonaitis, Kristina Kovarik and don Rudny. Please join me.

Chicago Botanic Garden's Spring Blooms festival buds

The vibrant colors and fragrances of more than one million blooms will fill the Chicago Botanic Garden during its Spring Blooms Festival through May 31.

The Garden's 385 acres will be painted with the vibrant colors of 750,000 flowering bulbs including crocuses, tulips and daffodils, as well as cool-weather annuals and perennials such as Siberian iris, columbine, trillium and bleeding hearts. During this six-week celebration of spring, flowering shrubs and trees including lilacs, dogwood, red bud, cherry and crabapple are interwoven with a rainbow of herbaceous plants.

Several new highlights promise the best show of spring ever experienced at the Garden. An innovative display of Spring Blooms will eliminate road rage along the Edens Expressway, where the Garden's western perimeter will shine with the bright yellows and oranges of nearly 60,000 daffodils. Visitors will enjoy more than 5,000 "Champagne Bubbles" poppies bursting with color in the English Oak Meadow and the turf of the popular Rose Garden will come alive with more than 50,000 new crocuses. The Circle Garden will serve as focal point of the springtime show as it twinkles with a plethora of red, yellow and deep purple tulips, pansies, and flowering shrubs and trees.

During the Spring Blooms Festival,

gardeners will find hundreds of creative design ideas for planning their own springtime gardens. The Heritage Garden will inspire visitors with its numerous troughs and containers brimming with a brilliant mix of violas, Persian buttercups, forget-me-nots and poppies. The Home Landscape Demonstration Gardens, designed especially for Midwest gardeners, will host hundreds of spring bulbs such as crocuses, fritillaria, irises, grape hyacinths, glory-of-the-snow, tulips and anemones.

The Garden boasts one of the largest and most diverse collection of daffodils in the United States with more than 300,000 narcissus bulbs that will provide continuous blooms for the beginning of April to the end of May. Among the 205 varieties planted at the Garden are "Tete a Tete"—a cheery yellow dwarf variety; "Thalia"—a creamy white; "Beryl"—straw-colored with an orange cup; and "Scarlett O'Hara"—yellow orange with a red-orange cup. Due to their longevity, pest-resistance, low maintenance and hardy beauty, daffodils are a must-have in many home gardens throughout the Midwest.

On May 15 and 16, the Woman's Board of the Chicago Horticultural Society will host its popular Bloomin' Plant Sale. Avid gardeners from around the Midwest flock to this sale to choose from more than 41,000 perennials, annuals, aquatic plants, shrubs and trees that are carefully bred to flourish in the Chicagoland area.

"Botanical Prints by Henry Evans" will grace the indoor galleries of the Garden's Education Building from April 17 to June 13.

Prints depicting bright red tulips, cool blue irises and engaging purple violets allow visitors to enjoy an indoor garden when spring showers erupt outside. Evans created these life-size prints by hand, using linoleum as printing surface and an

The festival also features numerous family activities, guided walking tours on Saturdays and Sundays at 1 and 3 p.m., daily narrated tram rides, musical performances and numerous flower shows and sales.

'Tis season of lawn mower safety

The Doctors at Hand Surgery Associates are concerned about the number of hand injuries occurring in the spring and summer months. Each year, thousands of small children, adolescents, adults and elderly people are injured by power lawn mowers, lawn equipment and riding power mowers. Approximately 25,000 hand and arm injuries related to the use of lawn mowers were reported in 1997 according to the National Electronic Injury Surveillance Systems of the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission.

Most of the injuries—17,000—were sustained by adults, but a significant amount occurred in children. Children under the age of 14 had 1,800 injuries. The most frequent injuries were fractures, burns, contusions and amputations.

"We see many severe hand injuries caused by lawn mowers this time of year, and these injuries are usually preventable," says Dr. Scott Sagerman of Hand Surgery Associates.

The following safety guidelines are recommended when using lawn equipment:

- Never use fingers to remove grass or debris from lawn mower blades.
- Children should not be permitted to use lawn equipment.
- Children should not be in the area while the lawn is being mowed.
- No riders other than the operator, regardless of age, should be allowed on a riding mower.

- Be sure the motor has been turned off before inspecting or repairing power lawn mower equipment.

- Wear proper protective boots, clothing and eyeglasses when using a lawn mower.

- Do not tamper with safety release switches.

In case of injury, seek medical attention immediately.

Hand Surgery Associates, SC is a medical organization dedicated to the treatment of injuries and conditions affecting the upper extremity, including the hand, wrist, elbow, and shoulder. The physician staff is comprised of Dr. Z. John Bilos, Dr. Michael I. Vender, Dr. John R. Ruder, Dr. Scott D. Sagerman, Dr. Jay F. Pomerance, and Dr. Paul E. Papler-ski. Hand Surgery Associates has offices in Arlington Heights and Vernon Hills.

Furniture is now being constructed out of materials which weather better and last longer.

New materials add life to outdoor products

(ARA) - One of the larger and more enduring sectors of the outdoor furniture market over the years has been wood furniture due to its rustic appeal and natural feel. Historically, the major drawback to the use of these materials has been in product durability. Most wood or wood and fabric outdoor furniture was made out of redwood or cedar with cushions made of cotton or canvas. These materials quickly deteriorated in a year or two leaving the owner with a maintenance headache or new furniture to purchase.

In response to the need for more durable wood outdoor furniture, Leisure Life Inc. has introduced an entire line of outdoor products that are both weather-durable and visually appealing. Made with pressure-treated Southern Yellow Pine, it has the strength to withstand the weather elements and eliminates the problems of rotting and termites. This translates into a long and sturdy product life.

The wood is dried such that it can be stained or painted right out of the box to match any exterior decor or left natural to keep its rustic appeal. The developments of new fabrics have also aided in prolonging product life.

In the last 3 years, a new Outdoor fabric called Marine Olefin has been developed that is virtually impervious to rain and is both fade and mildew resistant. Leisure Life has also encompassed the use of Olefin into the manufacture of its entire product line.

The star of their Swing Set line is a new, ready-to-assemble "In-Motion" 5Ft. Tte—tte Contoured Swing Set. It couples timeless styling with a durability that surpasses all of its wood predecessors. The swing set is the perfect way to spend the afternoon. The A-Frame, Sunshade Canopy, and swing are all included in a set.

The sling design of the swing is ergonomic and contours to the curve of the seated person's back for even support and unmatched comfort. The model is full adjustable for swing height and angle with a patented "No-Knots" Gravity Rope-Lock system. Gardening with fewer pesticides

You love your garden, but hate the pests and problems that attack it. How can you cut down on pesticide use and still have a beautiful garden? University of Illinois Extension is offering a program to show you how to do this. The program, "Reducing Pesticide Use in the Landscape," examines a variety of methods for reducing pesticide use. Basic horticultural practices, as well as mechanical and biological controls will be discussed.

The program is scheduled for Saturday, April 24 from 10 a.m. to noon at the Extension office Grayslake (100 S. Highway 45, Grayslake). There is no fee, but pre-registration is required. To register, call the Extension office at 223-8627.

Plants add value to communities

- Landscaping can add between seven and 14 percent to a home's value.

- Landscaping can have a recovery value of 100 to 200 percent at selling time.

- A mature tree can often have an appraised value of between $1,000 to $10,000.

- Landscaping increases property values, which add to the community's tax base.

- Landscaping can speed the sale of homes by five to six weeks.

- A single urban tree can provide up to $273 a year in air conditioning, pollution fighting, erosion and storm water control, and wildlife shelter benefits.

Plant care provides benefits

A little greenery can enrich the lives of older people, according to the University of Illinois researchers.

"Working with plants promotes physical health, a perception of well-being and an increased capacity to pay attention," said William Sullivan, assistant research professor in the Department of Natural Resources and Environmental Sciences.

House plants and gardens allow elderly people to exercise arthritic fingers and joints as well as provide opportunities to be creative and useful. Evidence supports studies indicating reduced blood pressure, less stress and lower instances of depression in older people as a result of cultivating plants.

Plants offer social benefits as well. Older people often grow plants together in their communities which provides a setting for social interaction and companionship.

Horticultural therapy researchers say people who care for and tend to the needs of plants rediscover a sprig of usefulness and vitality in their own lives.

Protecting Original Property - Patents, Trademarks and Copyrights

(Part One of a two-part series)

A common question our clients ask is how they can protect their ideas, inventions and intellectual property. In this and next week's column, I hope to lend some clarity to the subject of patents, trademarks and copyrights.

Let's begin with a brief overview of each. Patents protect an inventor's innovation and discoveries. They are granted in three categories: utility, design and plant. You must have more than a mere idea or suggestion for improving a product or business process.

A trademark protects the goodwill or brand value customers associate with your product, business name or packaging. Trademarks typically cover trade names, logos, artwork, product lines and packages.

A copyright protects authors, writers, designers and artists from unfair use of original work. The work must be demonstrated in a fixed or tangible medium. Books, musical scores, recordings, computer programs and drawings are prime examples.

Three Patent Types

Of the three types of patents, the utility patent is the most common. The utility patent covers a lot of innovation territory. A utility patent can fall into any of the following five categories: a machine, a process, a composition of matter, a manufacture or an improvement of an existing idea which fits into one of the first four categories. They must also provide some useful benefit.

Some inventions fit into more than one category. A new widget may be both a machine and a composition of new matter. A software program might be regarded both as a process (steps of operation) and a machine (the instrument that carries information).

Design patents - the second type - are issued for the invention of designs or nonfunctional methods which are new, nonfunctional of themselves and yet are a part of a manufactured item. A new shape for a motorcycle fender or a scoop shovel would have potential for a design patent if it did not qualify for a utility patent because of no increase in functionality or usefulness.

Plant patents are granted for the "green and growing" type of plants, not manufacturing plants. Plant patents can be issued for flowers, crops, grasses, shrubs and trees. A new color for a hybrid rose, a drought resistant bean or a new apple variety might qualify for plant patent protection.

Applying for a patent is a fairly complicated process. The strongest patents are written in great technical detail, with specific claims that describe the patentable aspects and include drawings of the invention. Most successful inventors agree that you should use a patent agent or attorney.

Prate takes roofing into whole new light

Michael A. Prate is a man who has learned from mistakes, those of his own and of others.

His first job centered around re-roofing a barn. It was "sheer terror for me," he states with a quiet grin.

At 18 and working with seasoned roofers, he found their methods of working were not compatible with his. Not to be daunted, he started his own roofing business, Prate Installations, at the age of 21.

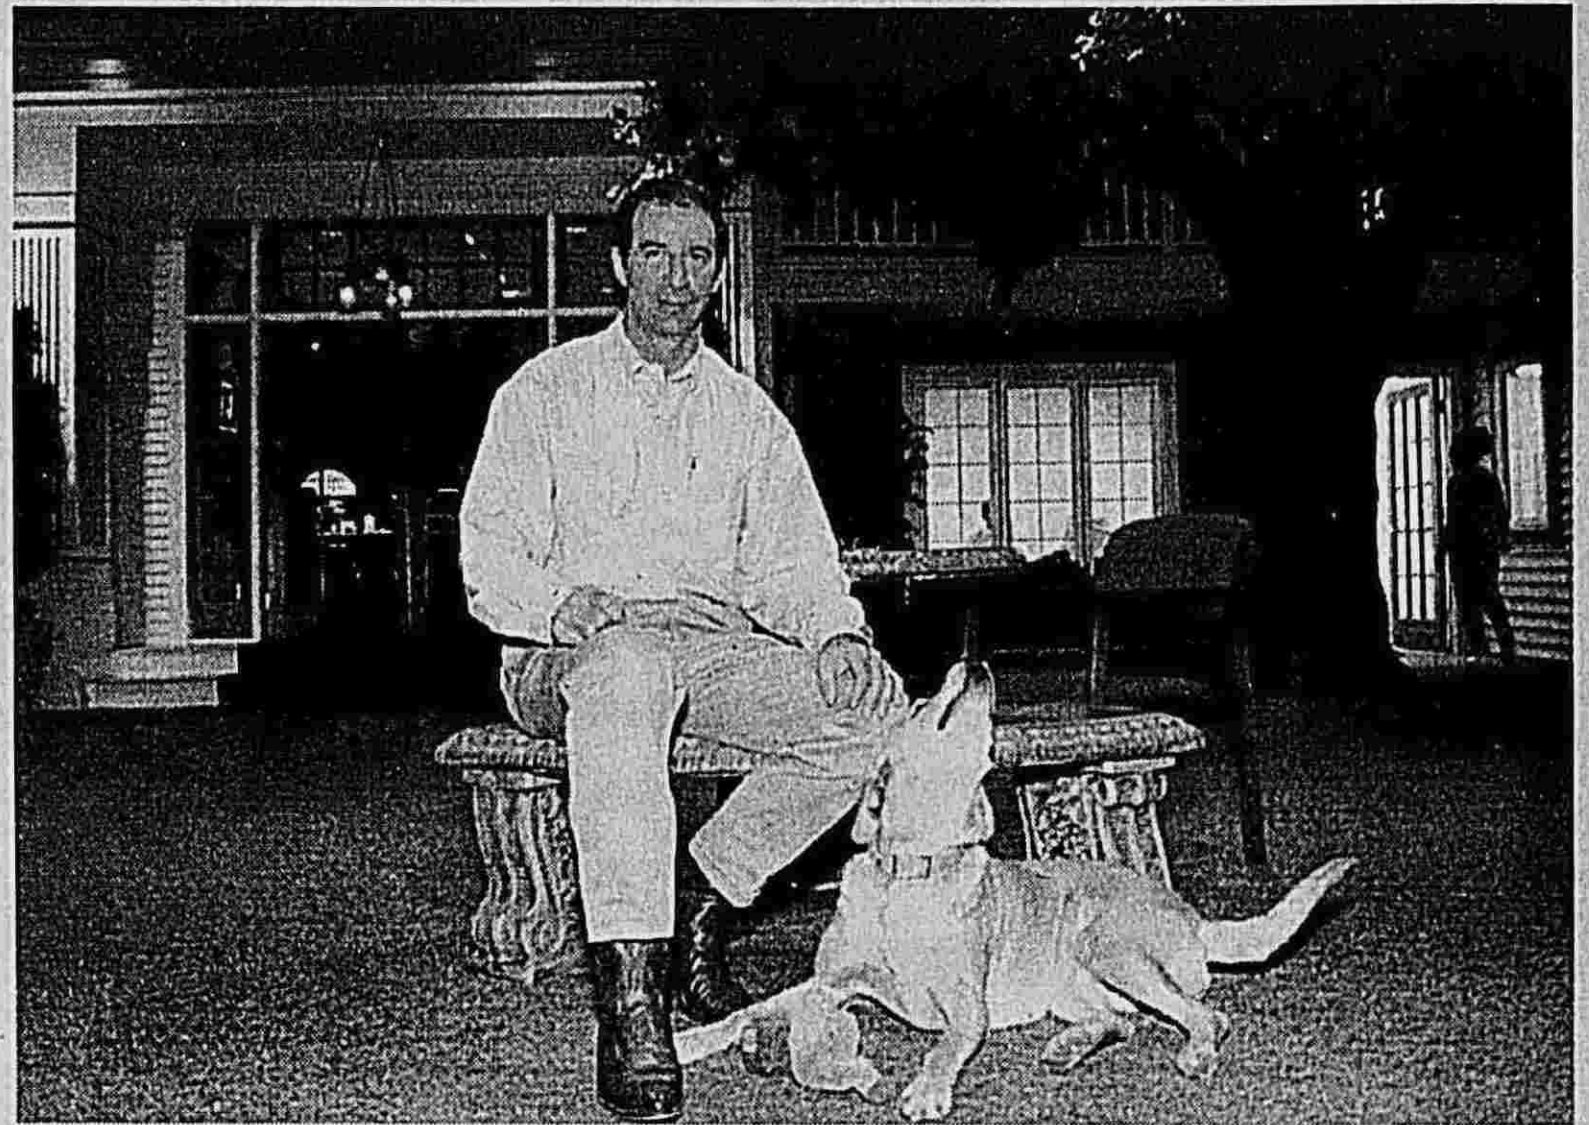

His work ethic is so strenuous that, when a contracted job ran into a departmental code disagreement, he utilized 125 workers to tear off the newly-completed office building roof and to build it a new in one day.

To talk about Prate Installations is equivalent to speaking about the man behind the 25 years of successful business. Noting that "nine out of ten people don't even know the color of their [house] roofs," Prate takes consumer education seriously. Education is the mantra, repeated proudly by employees, around the company's new building at 1120 N. Rand Road in Wauconda.

The new structure is a study of architectural variances on the "roofing system", a term preferred by Prate to describe the components of a roof. Open the doors, walk inside, and one wonders if one had stepped inside or outside. In contrast to the dismal concrete of Route 12, the new showroom is a breath of fresh air. Complete with faux landscaping and plaster of Paris oaks, the park-like setting affords one a look at different exterior combinations for the home or business.

The front of the "buildings," actually offices, which surround the central greenery, exhibit real siding, gutters, fascia, soffits, and, of course, roof treatments. Here, at last, is a way to see how the product looks once it is installed.

Mastering the use of computer technology for the roofing industry, the showroom will boast Internet use for each of the sales force, as well as a specialized room for products from roofing supplier Owens-Corning.

Michael Prate of Michael Prate Installations along with Molly the dog, enjoy the interior park-like setting of his company's exquisite offices on Route 12. Prate began the business 25 years ago in his garage. —Photo by Lynn Gunnarson Dahlstrom.

These amenities, combined with knowledgeable consultants and numerous product samples, enable the consumer to have a deeper pool of information from which to draw in the process of choosing the desired exterior, the company believes. Although the new showroom is open, final touches will not be in place until the time of the grand opening, slated for the week of April 25. The day marks the 25th anniversary of the genesis of Prate Installations.

Looking back at the beginning of the company's development, Prate discusses the elements of its success.

"It's unique now to be at this point and look back. Competent people were needed [at the company], people who believed in business ethics. Teaching this is very important," Prate said.

He sees this role as educator to be a key part of his daily work with others. The simulated park setting of the showroom, while maintaining a professional purpose, is also good for company morale, he says. Believing that one's work should be doing what one's strengths are, Prate encourages employees toward their best output. "In the roofing business," he says, "you could be a great contractor, but be terrible with numbers. Or the other way around. If there is a contractor who hates the numbers part, he doesn't have to do that here."

Evidently, his work ethic and passion have worn off on family members. Three of his children and his father have key roles in the business.

With the new prominent location for Prate Installations, he hopes the building will become a new landmark for anyone passing by on Route 12. At any rate, the Wauconda businessman has left a mark in more than one way: Carved into the plaster of Paris trees in the company's showroom are the initials of Michael Prate—"M.A.P."—and other family members.

Grand opening festivities for Prate Installations are on Sunday, April 25, from 1-5 PM.

Could the paperless office be on its way?

Survey suggests that rumors of paper's demise may be exaggerated

With the growing popularity of e-mail, some seem to believe that technology could entirely eliminate need for "hard copy." But one recent survey of executive suggests that paper won't vanish anytime soon. While more than half of executives polled (56 %) say the amount of paperwork in their office has decreased due to technological advances, a significant 44 % believe that paper flow has either increased or stayed the same.

The survey was developed by OfficeTeam, a leading staffing service specializing in highly skilled temporary administrative professionals. It was conducted by an independent research firm and includes responses from 150 executives with the nation's 1,000 largest companies.

Executives were asked: "Has technology increases or decreased the amount of paperwork in your company?" Their responses:

Increased significantly.....	7 %
Increased somewhat.....	18 %
Neither increased or decreased.....	19 %
Decreased somewhat.....	37 %
Decreased significantly.....	19 %
	100 %

"The increased use of e-mail, Web research and online purchasing are helping businesses enhance productivity commensurate with their investment in these technologies," said Diane Domeyer, executive director of OfficeTeam. "The days of organizing or filing countless paper documents are diminishing, thanks to electronic storage and filing systems."

Domeyer noted, however, that a preference for the tactility of paper makes many reluctant to abandon it completely, as reflected by the 44 % of respondents who have seen no decrease in the prevalence of paper in their companies.

Tricia Vanella, OfficeTeam branch manager, said, "As new technologies are introduced, and as users become more familiar with them, the amount of paper used in the office likely to decrease even further."

Tollway Board authorizes new Deerfield Road access

The Illinois State Toll Highway Authority Board of Directors voted to authorize an additional $8.4 million for the construction of an underpass that would allow direct access from the Edens Spur to Deerfield Road. The underpass will replace the bridge exit ramp that was under construction as part of the Deerfield Toll Plaza removal project. The new project will also include the construction of the Lake-Cook Road entrance ramp to the northbound Tri-State Tollway. Construction would start early in 2000 and continue through the end of the end of the year.

the ramp bridge construction was suspended in October as a result of concerns raised by homeowners regarding the height of the bridge adjacent to their property. An open house/public hearing was held on January 7, 1999, to present eight alternatives to the ramp bridge for public input and comments. Comments received from the public, as well as the Deerfield Village Board and the Traffic Management Association of Lake-Cook (TMA), were overwhelmingly in support of the underpass alternative. After considering these comments and recommendations, the Tollway Board of Directors voted to authorize the design and subsequent of the new exit ramp.

The new underpass will utilize the same exit ramp alignment that was being used for the bridge, but it will carry the ramp under the northbound Tri-State Tollway rather than above the Tollway. This will significantly lower the height of the ramp behind the homes along the Tri-State. Access to Deerfield Road will be maintained during construction of the ramp.

TAYLOR: How to protect your original property, copyrights tection or disclosure, keep your ideas to yourself. Don't offer it for sale or discuss it openly.

• Keep good records. Keep a log of the ongoing work you're doing. Date these entries in a "running" journal.

• Don't listen to your family and friends. You can get objective, non-biased advice from professionals such as attorneys, inventor's organizations, consultants and small business development center counselors.

• Avoid invention-marketing companies. Particularly those who advertise that they help you get rich with your invention. I've visited with dozens of inventors who spent their hard-earned dollars and received very little value in return.

• Network with other inventors. You can learn a lot from someone who has walked a few miles in the "patent" shoes.

• Conduct your own patent search at a patent depository library. If you find that someone has beaten you to the punch, you've saved your money.

Next week, I'll discuss trademarks and copyrights. I'll also give you sources for obtaining additional information. Don't miss patents, trademarks and copyrights, part two.

How To Survive The Job Search
By Nancy Sakol
Q: What is the rule on companies and severance pay. I left a company after 3 1/2 years due to a lay off, and I was not offered any severance pay. I was told by a friend that I had it coming to me and that I should contact the company to find out why I have not received it yet. Please give me your ideas on how I should approach the situation. T.S.-Lakemoor
A. Your friend is feeding you improper information. Be advised that severance pay is not a "given". Companies are not required to give an employee severance pay upon departure from a company. In fact, companies are not required to give out severance pay for any reason whatsoever. Severance pay is a gift of sorts that often means "hope this softens the blow". Your friend may be confusing severance pay with unemployment compensation which you may be eligible for. Contact your nearest Illinois Department of Employment Security office, which for you would probably be the Waukegan office (although you may contact any Illinois facility), and they will have you fill out the necessary forms, for which you may apply for the compensation while you are actively seeking future employment. You should have no trouble collecting as long as the reason for your termination is uncontested. The Illinois Department of Employment Security has launched a staunch effort to crack down on unemployment fraud. Therefore, be sure that you are actively seeking employment with an emphasis on actively. Be prepared when you go to apply at your nearest office to supply the representative with your employer's name, address, dates of employment, paycheck stubs if you have them, and a good attitude. You will then be required to meet with a job service counselor who will monitor your activity and offer recommendations as to possible job listings that may be available. You will be required to check in periodically.
Q. I recently spent a fortune to have a resume typed by a service that omitted the year that I graduated college. They told me the reason that they did it, but could you please tell me what you believe would be a reason for not including that on a resume? I am proud of my accomplishment and feel it should be included. R.H.-Lake Forest
A. It doesn't sound as though anyone is trying to shrink your accomplishment. As I understand it, your degree is included in your resume, just the date of graduation was left out. The reason I can guess would be that a potential employer could possibly calculate your age, which could help or hurt depending on the position. If you feel more comfortable having it in...ask the service to do so, but it is not necessarily needed.
Note: Nancy Sakol is a licensed personnel professional and President of Superior Personnel in Gurnee.
Letters can be sent to Nancy Sakol c/o Lakeland Newspapers, P.O. Box 268, Grayslake, IL 60030

GARCIA (406-34)

Stucco and rock give a craftsman's touch to this luxurious home with generously proportioned rooms. The Garcia (406-34) has 1,936 square feet of living area and a three-car garage, which contains 881 square feet. A large set of covered windows enhances the look of the face of the garage.

The inset entry to the Garcia is covered and the door is flanked by two full length windows. Opening the door, guests look directly into the enormous Great Room. The vaulted living room portion of the Great Room contains a corner fireplace, large windows overlooking the backyard and solarium. The dining area is open with its matching window, viewing the backyard. The highlight of the Great Room is the enlarged sliding glass door out to the rear deck. With all the glass area, the Great Room has a bountiful supply of natural light.

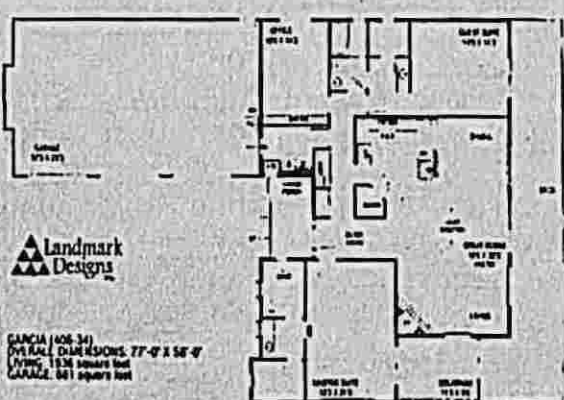

The kitchen peninsula shares the vault of the dining area. While cabinets run overhead around the back wall, the eating bar, sink and counter space are open, ideal for family gatherings and sharing of conversation with the cooks. The pantry forms a corner of the kitchen and is large enough to store those items needed for the family and for holidays.

To the right of the entry is the master suite. An archway separates the main suite from the bath and closet areas. There are doors dividing the corner walk-in closet from the bath area. Sliding glass doors off the main suite allow access to the solarium.

The Garcia is unique in that it has only two large bedrooms. The guest suite, located completely across the home from the master suite, has access to the backyard through the sliding glass doors, along with a private entrance to the bathroom area. A sink next to the walk-in closet gives guests personal privacy. The bath area is also open for use by the rest of the home with an adjacent office. It has a full wall of shelves and a large window.

Centrally located to both bathrooms is the utility room with a large linen closet in the hall. The utility room contains a deep sink and a window that overlooks the porch, providing a view of guests arriving if you are busy with laundry.

For a study kit of the GARCIA (406-34LP60) send $14.95, to Landmark Designs, 33127 Saginaw Rd. E., Cottage Grove, OR 97424 (Specify plan name & number for kit). For a collection of plan books, send $20.00, or save by ordering the kit and collection together for $29.95. For faster processing call 1-800-562-1151 or visit www.landmarkdesigns.com.

Pet OF THE WEEK

HOLLY

Holly is this week's "PET OF THE WEEK."
 Holly is ten years old and she likes to lounge on top of the toilet tank, sleep by the fireplace, chatter at birds, and be brushed and vacuumed everyday. The tricks she knows are jumping into her owner's arms and understanding the phrase
 "time to eat." Submitted by Sharon S.
